Senior Class History

LOOKING backward to the time when it was fortune or misfortune (as you like it) to enter Lehigh as freshmen, we are astonished at our ignorance as well as our innocence. Marveling all the while at the abundance of ambition that dominated that collection of over two hundred, whom Professor Thornburg proclaimed the Class of 1917, in the Chapel, while the organ pealed out the strains of our Alma Mater which we have since learned to love so well.

Our history has been different from the classes that have preceded us, for we have witnessed the passing out of the traditions of Lehigh. We pledged ourselves to keep the Honor System and in 1916 hazing was dropped from the regulations while we also had the pleasure of seeing our poor neighbor Lafayette humbled three times. We witnessed the dullest Presidential Campaign in the history of the United States; at a time when all the foreign nations were at war, and our troops had marched across the border into Mexico. As a result of this, we will see Universal Training adopted at Lehigh, thru the efforts of our President, Dr. Drinker, and the entire student body. The efforts of our generous Alumni and close friends have given birth to a greater Lehigh, with the completion of one of the finest gymnasiums and stadiums possessed by any college, and as a class we thank you.

Our numbers, too, have been greatly reduced by devious methods devised by the Faculty; and the hand of the Great Reaper has been felt in our midst several times. However, where we have lost in quantity we have gained in quality, and now we are approaching that goal which has been our objective during the strenuous years spent here. We are more than eager to put to the test the knowledge gathered during this time, furthering its interests toward a greater future, instead of a past, historical as it may be.

As to the past we look upon it with pleasure, tho tinged with a slight regret for those things that we might have done better. However, we live in the present with its uncertainties, and look to the future, wherein all possibilities lay to make us loyal Lehigh men, emulating that loyalty of the men which has made her famous thruout the ages.

THE SENIOR CLASS

Biographies.

A LARGE band gathered one day to start on a long pilgrimage over stony roads through narrow passageways, and into dismal swamps. They sought for a degree but first must they ensnare the Phantom Six. "In union there is strength" cried one and up the stairs of Packer Hall to do combat with Calculus they went. The sombre reaper ruthlessly thinned their ranks casting a shadow over their future when he said—"So far and no farther shalt thou go." On they walked, now slowly and now with greater speed as the weaker ones sought support from their stronger brethren until they reached the forest of Natural Science where they tried to sink in the mire the huge Physic but in this effort some succumbed. Next on the plains of Coppee they met obstacles and learned that in many things the law of diminishing returns plays an important part. They moved on over the plates of Machine Design, Graphic Statics, and Met. Construction and worked their way through the hazy mists of Big Strength, Steam Engines, and Thermo, but progress seemed slow. Together through the trying situations of four long years went they ever becoming better and closer friends for adversity makes strange bed fellows.

Soon opposition became to them a thing to be expected and they prepared to meet it with an ever increasing energy. As one by one their fellows dropped by the way they felt the necessity of taking a stronger stand on higher ground. With experience as the chief aid they were enabled to solve problems of a new and vital nature. When lack of sufficient knowledge prevented them from crossing the line they rested and then after organizing a new aggression they pressed forward with renewed vigor. Exams and re-exams were but temporary hindrances to a steady advance, though they were annoyed and frequently were disturbed by the worryment which failure caused. Some obstacles were too great and only the fittest were permitted to survive. Bulletin boards and faculty notices were carefully read for some glimmer of hope as their names were posted as victors in a steady advance toward graduation. Some were disappointed. If the gates were opened wide they entered, but if not they remained outside. Some turned their backs never to return to the place where they searched for knowledge, while others insisted that one defeat did not mean certain disaster. Some there were who found the rulings of a cruel fate not to their liking, though now they constitute the raw recruits to that mighty army of the men who have made Lehigh famous.

One day they chanced to come together in a meeting house to talk over their experiences and to count their losses. Then one arose to his feet and said "Friends, we journey this way but once. We are at the parting of the ways, today we know each other line for line but Time and its changes will weaken our memories for the years are long and the memory of man is short. Let us put into a book our likenesses and beneath them let us write the impressions of our fellows. We shall ever cherish the memories of our college days, the best and freest of a lifetime." A silence followed but then all gave assent and they chose from their number those who should bring together a brief account of each man's life at the University.

THE Power to dedicate involves the power to confer upon some worthy individual or group of individuals an honor. In the search for someone who, by knowing our good qualities, would pardon those less worthy of emulation, we have been eminently successful. And then

Paul Jones Ancona

Reading, Pa.

"Major" "Anny."

M. E. Sophomore Banquet Committee, President Berks County Club (3), Cyanide, Sword and Crescent, Delta Upsilon.

Paul Jones Sylvester Ancona. No, gentlemen, he is not a daring sea fighter, he is not a sylvester (what is a sylvester?), he is not even a "Wop." Strange as it may seem and notwithstanding the name he is simply a Berks County Dutchman who claims Reading as his home, past, present and future. During the five years that he has been with us at Lehigh we have learned that his hobbies are "Women" and "Henry Fords." When not engaged in investigating the workings of his hobbies he may be found sleeping or struggling with Kinematics. As to his future it is easy to predict that he will be married soon after graduation and will be situated in Reading as President of the Pennsylvania Plant of the Ford Automobile Co. Since Anny refused to leave Reading, Henry will put up a plant for his convenience.

"Somebody is always taking the joy out of life."

Albert Hopkins Achorn, Jr.

Wakefield, Mass.

"Benny."

Bus. Adm. Class Baseball (1, 2), Varsity Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4), Cotillion, Sword and Crescent, Sigma Nu.

Benny hails from dear Old New England, a fact which only five three syllable words on any subject would soon convince a listener. Born at Hudson in 1894, he later moved to Wakefield though he'll usually claim that Boston is his home for it's the nearest city which places any just claim to prominence. Laurence Academy was his preparatory school and it did fit him for the course in Business which he has been taking, while forced to live in Coppee Hall. He has tried to win his letter on the diamond and gridiron showing at all times pluck aplenty. Benny appears to be a silent sort of chap, in fact a model young man, but his friends assert that in many respects this view is quite erroneous. As a business man he should ring true though the unrush of time alone will tell.

"Do you know anything about this?"

Frank Oscar Anderson

Baltimore, Md.

"Andy."

M. E. M. E. Society, Maryland Club,
Treasurer (4), Second Honors Soph
Physics.

Another light haired descendant of the great Oscar II was born in February, 1895. After traveling for a short time and attending several preparatory schools Andy decided to become an alumnus of Baltimore City College and a great chemist. However, nobody wanted a great chemist. It was then that he decided to come to Lehigh and become one of Pop's boys. The training he has received here has enabled him to dope thermo without an error. Andy used to be a regular fiend for work and could always be found in his room writing lab. reports—when no place else. Within the last year, however, he has changed his views and now writes letters. The large quantity of perfume in the mail he receives indicates that there is a reason. His one ambition has been to get up in the world and he has succeeded in attaining considerable height. But he persists in thinking that Everett, Pa.

"Most" "Ap."

Met. Glee Club (1, 2, 3), Orchestra
(2), Theta Xi.

Howard Frederick Appel tried out his magnificent voice for the first time in the year of Our Lord 1893, on the people of Everett, Pa., who stood around in open mouth wonder as the silvery notes rang throughout the town to the other house. He got his preliminary training at the schools of Everett and there, heeding the advice of excellent instructors, went to Chestnut Hill for two years, from whence he graduated in June, 1913, after doing everything from basket ball to singing in the Glee Club. He entered Lehigh that fall as a member of Dr. Richards' famed "profession" and used his silvery voice and other musical vices until the faculty consented to give him a degree in Metallurgy. We have every reason to believe that "Ap" will revolutionize the coke industry and wish him success.

"Bright gem, distinct with music, vocal spark."

John Ayrault, Jr.

Tonawanda, N. Y.

"Jack."

Bus. Adm. Class Football (1), Varsity Squad (1, 2, 3), Varsity Football (4), Class Lacrosse (1), Mustard and Cheese Variety Show (2, 3), Chorus (3), Secty. Business Administration Club (1), Delta Upsilon.

We are not quite sure as to whether Tonawanda is really a town in itself or whether it is a suburb of Buffalo. But of this we are sure, it is the birthplace of John Ayrault, Jr. Of Jack's early life we only know that he wintered at Nicols School, Buffalo, and summered in the wilds of Georgian Bay. He is a follower of Baldy by choice but a mechanic by nature and we hope that he will find time, in his financial life in Wall Street, for work upon the mechanical inventions which we are sure lie in the dark recesses of his brain, for otherwise the world will suffer a great loss. Jack has followed more lines of industry and business than most of us for during his stay he has been everything from salesman to carpenter, machinist and vaudeville star. Which is his line?

"It's a great life if you don't weaken."

The old saying that all big things have small beginnings is most fitting to this treatise on the college career of Bachy. The first year he spent with his books, keeping his eyes open for anything that was going on from which he could learn, but rather backward in taking the lead. His sophomore and junior years gave him an opportunity to show the worth which had been kept in the background. The senior year marks the summation of his increasing desire for the betterment of those who came in contact with him. He has been willing to do his share, which is emphasized in the way he held important positions.

William O'Neal Barkley

C. E. Varsity Lacrosse (2,3). Varsity Soccer (1,2,3,4), Captain (4). Class Lacrosse, Class Football (2), Football Squad (1). University Band (1,2,4). Orchestra (1,2). Mandolin Club (1). C. E. Society, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Amid thick clouds of smoke and dust of the nearby Phoenixville Works, Chuck passed his boyhood days. Early he learned to play a cornet in the town band and to paint pictures. He was educated in the Phoenixville High School and then being a musician and an artist desired to investigate further the Halls of Learning so he procured a number of catalogues and found Lehigh. After working a year he came to Lehigh and here managed to combine studies with pleasure and sport, and getting full benefit of all three. Even though his nose had been broken five times in the gentle game of lacrosse he can always walk straight by following it. But he has also done a it helping to put soccer on the Lehigh map.

"When in Rome, do as Romans do."

Wilbur Ahlborn Beck
St. Nicholas, Pa.

"Becky," "Bud," "Brownie."

E.E. Class Historian (2,4). Calculus Cremation Committee, Cotillion, Kappa Beta Phi, E. E. Society, Theta Delta Chi.

This right faced young fellow, knocked the first piece of coal dust off of his nose shortly after Nov. 6, 1890, in Mahanoy City, Pa. Since then he has spent considerable time playing around coal mines and power houses—now and then taking time out for study, in the "City" schools. The next place he popped up was at Bethlehem Prep. from which he was graduated with honors and then Lehigh. When approached by our reporter and asked if he was going to graduate he said, "Oui," or rather "je ne sais pas," only it was said in the good old coal region dialect, and was hard to understand. He would go so far as to say that in the hands of "Bill" Esty rested his future occupation, though that at best dodged the question.

He has written the class history on two occasions, thus displaying a remarkable insight into the future in terms of the past.

Frank's chubby baby hands tackled the pillows faultlessly. This incident, which has affected beyond doubt the world of football, happened in Philadelphia. Frank may be light, but history has shown that he gets there. Whether it be some Lafayette back, the illusive identity of some mineral, or the still more illusive members of the fair sex, Frank's ability seldom fails to assert itself, and, it is said that he can down more phrases of the "Mother Tongue" per cubic unit of conversation than even our own illustrious John L., who is also a Philadelphian. This star first twinkled in the scholastic heavens over Central High School. Since then, in its meteoric course, it has glided swiftly and unobstructedly to the broader horizons of Lehigh and since that day in September, 1913, its ascendancy has been sure and steady.

Frank Leland Benscoter

Carbondale, Pa.

"Benny."

M. E. Band (1,2,4), Orchestra (1,2), Rifle Club, M. E. Society, Class Baseball (1), Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Benny, as we see him now, is a finished product of the coal regions. He opened his eyes years ago and found that his view of the surrounding terra firma was much obstructed by the coal dust in his eyes which came from the coal breakers adorning the adjacent hills around Carbondale.

During tender years he showed a marked tendency to trifle with swords and guns, hence after passing through the primary and secondary schools he was shipped to the banks of the Hudson, there to continue his pastime. Being graduated in 1913 he felt that there were still some undeveloped cells in his brain and decided that only at Lehigh could they be thoroughly brought to maturity. He invaded the valley of the muddy Lehigh in search of Judge Packer's school and finding it decided to remain for four years.

Walter Philip Berg

Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Walt."

M. E. Varsity Basketball (2,3,4), Chairman Junior Prom. Committee ('14), President Cotillion ('13), 18 Club, Scimitar, Psi Upsilon.

Walt opened his eyes upon the cloudy sky of the "Smoky City" sometime back in the dark ages. After being passed through the necessary primary schools, etc., he found himself about to be graduated from Pittsburgh High, but having a thirst for knowledge, he wandered toward Bethlehem and entered Moravian College at a tender age. After a year Walt suddenly discovered he was of a mechanical turn of mind and not at all suited to be a theologian so he crossed the river to enter college with the class of 1915, but after three years of work with the books he thought he should practice some of Prof. Klein's teachings, and left for Johnsonbury. At the end of a year and a half he suddenly discovered an M. E. written after his name would be an asset so back came he to the fold. Walt has made quite a name for himself on the basketball floor.

"I judge people by what they might be, not are, nor will be."

Gordon Knapp Bishop

Baltimore, Md.

"Bish," G. K."

M. E. Glee Club (2,3), Librarian M. E. Society.

He resembles Caruso from his ankle down. Born in Baltimore in the crisis of 1897, much to our regret and sorrow, he had to resort to B. P. I., where he was known as one of the most desperate geniuses. He did not stay in Baltimore; but came to contaminate the peaceful atmosphere of Lehigh. Needless to say Gordon has been successful in all his pursuits.

We caught our first glimpse of Bish when he made his debut in the Glee Club, where he served two terms at first base and on each run made "home" when the Club visited Baltimore. As an engineer Bish ought to, yes, he ought to. Being a disciple of Pop much more can be expected of our chubby soloist.

Besides being the class baby Bish is its heaviest unit, or as his admiring friends would say, "Isn't he the plumpest little boy?" Yes, he is, and so nice too.

"A friend must bear a friend's affirmations."

Walter August Borneman

Upper Montclair, N. J.

"Bornou."

M. E. Class Track (2), Class Lacrosse (1), Cotillion, Scimitar, Kappa Beta Phi, Sword and Crescent, Sigma Nu.

Bornu blew in on us after having tried and found Stevens Institute wanting in its ability to satisfy his thirst for information. That he had heard of the "goils" of South Bethlehem, Allentown, etc., and then—this may have influenced him just a trifle. Despite his tendency to forever try his vocal apparatus, which of all things is repulsive, we have been forced to like him because he's likable. Now and then he'll try to rook innocents with jewelry and magazines, though his best bait was the "Profit Sharing Club."

He proved that he was a hard man to beat when round the cinder path he flew as a member of the Sophomore track team. His chief delight is to crown 'em with a lacrosse stick, learning the rudiments of the whack 'em game at Hoboken. Home town politics still forms an important topic of discussion.

"Can that big nose."

Henry Robert Boston

New York City

"Beans."

C. E. C. E. Society, Chief Section D, Taylor Hall, (4).

The eventful year of 1915 brought to Lehigh a future Civil "star." Do not be mistaken as to the civil part of Henry. Nay, we could mention something about him ——— but "we came to bury Caesar not to praise him."

Our hero was born in New York City in 1894. After making his debut in Townsend Harris Prep. School, he entered City College of New York, where he received a B. S. degree. Not satisfied with all those years of loafing Beans came to Lehigh and joined the illustrious class of 1917. Like all the great Lehigh-Americans he soon made his flashing entry into Allentown society, and Mealey's welcomed him on many a Saturday evening. There is a faint rumor about that he was offered a professorship at that famous institution. He himself claims that 12.10 is entirely too early for the last car to leave.

"No doubt, no doubt."

Baltasar Botero

Souson, Columbia

"Bo,"

E.M. President C. E. A. 3.

Born in Souson, Columbia, late in the summer of 1892, Bo sent through the narrow isthmus a thrill of pleasure which nearly changed its topography. In 1905 he left San Ignacio College, Medellin, Columbia, with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy and Letters. But he saw new intellectual fields to conquer in the Northern Hemisphere. The result was that two years were spent entering Shortell's Academy in Montreal, Canada, to be followed by a single year at McGill University. No one knows whether it was the location near to Philadelphia and New York or the environment which influenced him but at any rate "Bo" left McGill for Lehigh—though we think because he wanted to get his E. M. here.

He has studied diligently, though never did he allow an opportunity to pass to perform in society and he did it well.

Leonard John Breen

Paterson, N. J.

"Knock 'em," "Jimmy,"

C. E. Associate Editor Brown and White (3-4), C. E. Society, Secretary (4); N. J. Club, Drown Hall House Committee (4), Sophomore Banquet Committee, Kappa Beta Phi, Scimitar, Sword and Crescent, Phi Sigma Kappa.

On Oct. 25, 1893, the famous Jersey bird named a mosquito piped forth with a loud buzz. Why? Leonard John had arrived at Paterson, N. J. After preparing at Newark Academy, he drifted to South Bethlehem to digest some of Mr. Lehigh's knowledge.

He thought that it would be fine to be a constructing engineer so chose that kind of course which would be best—the C. E. Jimmy arrived on Packer Avenue, we noticed a small peculiar animal with him, which he tied on the Campus. About the middle of his Freshman year, the aforementioned animal, known as a bovine, became unruly and it has been Knock's sole ambition since then to shoot the bull. And how has he succeeded? So much so, that, we feel sure he will get his diploma in June.

"What's that among friends."

Walter Brenton

Scranton, Pa.

"Nut," "Wally," "Beany."

Ch. E. Class Baseball (1), Alpha Tau Omega.

And so it came to pass that in the year 1894, A. D., there appeared in the harbor of Philadelphia something directed to the World's Fair at Chicago. Owing to its competent traffic management that something was sidetracked to the Coal Region of Scranton, whence it escaped and shortly afterwards descended upon us like a dove in its early hours of the morn, to shed its light abroad to that the fallen may see and live again. Nut has always shunned work and the lure of the fair sex. But lately a strange change has overtaken him. He has at last succumbed to the snare of the cozy corner, and to his long list of subjects mastered, he now has added parlor mechanics.

Naturally an occupant of the Chemistry laboratory during the daytime, Walt has been forced to devote his evenings to these extra scholastic activities but he has been quite able to spend Sundays in such a way that they could not be called wasted.

"Can't be bothered."

David Reuben Brobst

Freeland, Pa.

"Dave," "Chink."

E. E. Senior Class Book Committee. First Math. Honors (1), First Soph. Math. Honors, Wilbur Scholarship, Williams Soph. English Prize, First Honors E. E. Dept. (3). Wrestling Squad (1,2). Lacrosse Squad (3), Cheer Leader, Treas. E. E. Society (4), Tau Beta Pi.

The first thing this Dutchman from the coal regions did when he landed in South Bethlehem and took a second breath after reaching the dorms was to laugh, and he has been at it ever since. But it is certain that between these spells of mirth he has become accustomed to write a few lab reports and try to be a bit musical. Intent upon bagging all the honors possible he began his Freshman year and time alone will pass final verdict. This tendency may be due to a natural brilliancy inherited from a long line of ancestors or from contact with a bunch of Lehigh men as instructors in his prep school. One fact does remain and that is for a man of his size Dave is capable of making plenty of noise and arousing lots of enthusiasm.

George Appleton Butterworth
Harrisburg, Pa.

"George," "Butter."

C. E. Arcadia (3), Glee Club (2), Asst. Manager Track (3), Class Baseball (1), Freshman Banquet Committee, C. E. Society, Theta Xi.

George was born in Springfield, Missouri, where most everyone has to be shown. Three years at Lehigh and he claims he was shown but he has that never-say-die spirit which knows no conqueror. It would be unwise to delve too deeply into his life at the University for it could not be understood. Suffice it to say that he gave his all to his college, he would improve the environment, would make it a leader as much as was within his power to so do. But with this in mind he subordinated himself and lost when the deluge of yellow sheets had been carefully scrutinized.

His wit and jovial manner won for him the friendship of many. But time alone will tell whether he like others will be one of the men who have made Lehigh famous.

"Some of us must learn by experience."

Edwin Franklin Abell Buxton
Govans, Md.

"Bux," "Pete," "Eddie."

B. A. Class Baseball (1,2), Baseball Squad (2,3), Class Secretary (2), Burr Board (3), Assistant Editor (4), Junior Oratorical Contest, Cheer Leader, Y. M. C. A. Handbook Committee (4), Senior Banquet Committee, Cotillion, Sigma Nu

Born in Baltimore or some place near that city, Bux was loath to leave, but when the number of Prep schools had been exhausted he was forced to depart and landed in the Bethlehem institution. During the first weeks at Lehigh, after leaving "Scraps" School, this gentleman made himself felt quite positively by his classmates. It was not known at first whether he was a politician or a minister of religion, but now we know that he is somewhat of both. While with us he has spent his time trying to absorb Economics and Business Law. He is the first one of our brethren, who has lived quite conservatively in the Episcopal retreat, though occasionally he has emerged to enjoy a good time.

"Say, boys, she's wonderful."

John Arthur Carlson

Montclair, N. J.

"Art."

Bus. Adm. Associate Editor of Brown and White, (2-3), Business Manager (4), Manager of Basketball (4), June Hop Committee (3), Cyanide, Cotillion, Delta Tau Delta.

When Art's big brother came home to "Montclair the Beautiful," at the end of his Freshman year, he remarked, "Das Lehigh bane fine college." Moved by these touching words our hero replied, "Ay tank ay go up there," and accordingly packed his grip and took the Erie. After some time he arrived at South Bethlehem, where "Baldy" met him at the station with open arms, and Art joined the business men's club. Since then he has learned how to plot curves which clearly show how to get rich by merely investing a few millions. Most of his time, however, has been devoted to snatching the elusive eagle in sufficient numbers to issue the Brown and White and to managing the basketball team, "as she ought to be did." We all have confidence in his ability and confidentially predict his success in years to come.

"Well."

Joseph Franklin Carlz

Winthrop, Mass.

"Joe," "Jodie,"

M. E. Class Treasurer (3,4), Class Relay (2), Track Squad, M. E. Society, Delta Upsilon.

J. Franklin, as he has on his business cards, comes from that quaint old fishing town of Gloucester. His preparation in the town high school made of him a possible 1917 graduate when he landed here. It is hard to see how that class could have worried along without him to take care of its finances. Living on the gold coast has not left Joe with some scars and his supply of oats ought to be well nigh exhausted. He is a big racket with the ladies though this is not to be too hastily attributed to his temperament but rather to his good looks and for this he is not to blame. At any rate he does get away with it. Look at him from the left, the right, the front or any conceivable viewpoint, and you will conclude that he is a "swell guy" from every side. At times he appears to recognize that fact as well as his viewer but when he recognizes a classmate the question becomes a matter of class dues.

"There is a deal of devilry beneath his mild exterior."

Elwood Trout Carmichael

Elizabeth, N. J.

"Mike."

E. E. Orchestra (1,2,3), E. E. Society, Class Football (2), Phi Sigma Kappa.

"Mike" established quite a reputation for himself as a student during his freshman year but due to the pressure of constant week-end trips to the state where they grow the "peaches." He has lately been taking a correspondence course with the Secretary of the Faculty, though much harried by the number of 20-hour lab. reports demanded by the E. E. Department. He has ever found that too much knowledge is a dangerous thing and has tried to mix with the arduous duties he is called upon to perform, some of the less exacting among them have been placed quite prominently physical culture and bowling.

His activities in his course society brand "Mike" as a real enthusiast but there is something about the department he doesn't like. Science and knowledge are one thing to him but they must be imparted to others through channels quite acceptable, and that is another thing. He faces a future which is filled with promise.

"Chuck."

Wayne Hanley Carter

Phoenixville, Pa.

"Nick", "Carter."

Chem. Class Track (1), Track Squad (1), Musical Clubs (1), Chemical Society, Scimitar, Kappa Beta Phi, Sigma Nu.

This specimen, another sixteen-year-old, was ushered into the cruel world on Dec. 8, 1893, in a place called Phoenixville, the iron town. Thus in part is explained the fact that he relegates at certain times to the primitive stage of man. His early training was secured in the public schools of that place, where he prepared for Lehigh. Since entering here in September 1912 his talents have been directed toward passing Math. (an enforced vacation being explained by the Math. Department), toward Kappa Beta Phi, Allentown, and various other social outlets. The Chemistry Department has "Nick" in hand, however, and promises to make him live up to the high standard of that department. It takes much sacrifice and devotion to go into exile in that building, but this Nick has done and all for the love of science. But then in a whisper sweet and low there comes the information that he seeks the privilege to be on that graduation platform.

"If so when. If not, why not."

Chao Hsi Chiang

Foochow, China

"Chiang."

M. E. Author "Engineers and International Peace," Lehigh Chinese Club.

Born in China exactly four centuries after the discovery of America, Chiang found his way across the Pacific while in his suitcase he had tucked away a scholarship from his government. It was in the fall of 1916 that he appeared on the Campus rigged in a Freshman cap and other necessary apparel. But he has defied time and by hard work, for that it has been, he hopes to leave the hillsides in June and to migrate to some place near Boston. While at Lehigh he has been taking what might be called a drawing course under the auspices of the Mechanical Department for he has been the regular silent and oftentimes lone draftsman in Williams Hall. We have not been privileged to learn to know him better, part because of his short stay and part because of his retiring nature. He has chosen as his ideal to

"Serve the people and be served by nature."

John Fulmer Clark

Reading, Pa.

"Johnny."

M. E. Sword and Crescent, Delta Upsilon-Ion.

Johnny has many towns and cities which he may call his own, having been born in Easton, but leaving immediately upon finding that Lafayette was there. He now resides in Reading but seems to feel the call of new fields. Wherever he goes, we can count on hearing from him. On entering Lehigh he showed us all some things about mechanical engineering from a practical viewpoint. Johnny's sound judgment and thoughtfulness have been the big assets in his four years' journey through Lehigh. Thus it may be expected that some day like the blind Homer, many cities may claim him as their son but he has become so thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the Berks County Dutch that some fear may be expressed for the other contentants. Johnny has taken up athletics for the sport of the thing, though like all of us who live on the Campus he owes his chest expansion to the uphill fight he has waged for four years.

"Live to learn and learn to live."

Richard Lee Colby

South Bethlehem, Pa.

"Dick."

E. M. Class Football (1), Mandolin Club (1,2), Minstrel Show (1), Mustard and Cheese (1), Freshman Banquet Committee, Manager of Baseball (4), Arcadia (4), 18 Club, Cotillion, Scimitar, Psi Upsilon.

Dashing Dick came into our midst in the fall of 1913, fresh from Lawrenceville, where he completed his preparatory education and attained a polish ranking him with the smoothest of the smooth. As a member of the Class of '17 Dick has been tripping the light fantastic on many long to be remembered occasions. At each and every notable gathering of the class one has only to cast a glance over the motley throng when suddenly he will see towering above his fellows big and strong like a "Lucifer" our Dicky boy with the fairest of the fair held tightly in his arms.

Dick has many things hidden deeply in that coral top of his ability as a manager, actor and class patriot is unsurpassed.

"Remember this, that very little be needed to make a happy life."

Loyal Richard Conrad

Bayonne, N. J.

"Con." "Conny."

B. A. Arts and Science, N. J. Club, Treasurer, (2), Vice President (3).

Have you heard of strikes in Bayonne, when angered employees rose against their employers? All this happened after Loyal left the town to settle more serious disputes at Lehigh. He has been a constant if not successful mediator between his time and that demanded for the thorough understanding of a given subject, and a just judge he has been. The career he has led has been fairly regular though he has dipped into both the high and low spots in the Bethlehems, namely, Ferrys and the Movies. His social activities were more or less diversified until his Junior year and then centered suddenly. At 1.30 A. M. he knows how the 756th board on the New Street Bridge looks for two-thirds of the nights in the year. All this has resulted in the formation of definite ambitions, namely, to raise a new mustache every two months, to get that B. A., and immediately join the ancient and honorable order of Benedicts:

Robert Geiger Cook

Hammonton, N. J.

"Bob," "Cooky,"

C.E. Class Baseball (1,2), N. J. Club, Secretary (3), President (4); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (1), Chief of Section D (3), Dormitory Chief (1), University Dance Committee, Theta Delta Psi.

Cooky was born in Emmitsburg, Maryland, on Dec. 5, 1895. There he spent the first 15 years of his life. Having then absorbed with honors all the available knowledge at the small Emmitsburg High School, he moved to Hammonton, N. J., and in two more years took in the additional wisdom which Hammonton High School offered. Being progressively inclined, he hated to stop so early in the game, so wisely picked out Lehigh as a place worth attending. In 1913 he entered and started after a C. E. degree which he is due to capture in June after four years of earnest work.

Bob has a frank, pleasing personality and a good judgment which has won him many friends here and will undoubtedly be of value in the future which now lies beyond the chapel doors.

"The main part is to do with might and main what you can do."

Kyle Samuel Crichton

Bethlehem, Pa.

"Stuffy,"

B. A. Class Baseball (1), Class Treasurer (1), Varsity Basketball (2,3,4), Captain (4), Arcadia (4), Burr Board (3,4), Associate Editor (4), Deutscher Verein Treasurer (4), Band (1-3), Orchestra (1), Phi Delta Theta.

If the above were a life size picture you could see the kilts and mayhap hear the strains of the bagpipe. "Stuffy"—Harry's brother—is a local youth, minus the accent. He is a great friend of the "Little General" for obvious reasons, and he once went so far as to request that personage for an alcove permit giving love of literature as a reason. You can see the boy is versatile from the work he has done. But he ranks highest as a tosser. In fact, he is the center of attraction. His knowledge of Constitutional Law forms has been gained it is said—on Monday afternoons. He is set of literature but as yet has failed to make The Tower or break into Snappy Stories. Library Lab will miss him but they are keeping an empty shelf in readiness for his first volumes.

Granville Yocum Custer

Douglassville, Pa.

"Pop."

M. E. Tau Beta Pi; Chairman Class Banquet Committee (3), Treasurer M. E. Society (4), Calculus Cremation Committee, President, Berks County Club (4), Cyanide, Alpha Tau Omega.

This jolly and ever pleasant fellow, known as "Pop", was born in 1895, in the village of Douglassville. After necessary preparation in the public and Reading classical schools, he entered Pottstown High, and later Bethlehem Prep., being graduated from both schools with honors. This does not mean that Pop's only desire was to collect honors. Far be it from that, he simply wanted to know and just for the joy of the knowing.

Whether he came to Lehigh to make sure that some one in the class would graduate is not known but he did arrive in the fall of 1913 and joined the mechanical bunch. This he will tell you he did because of his interest in all kinds of machinery. He has ever been a consistent worker never being known to abandon an undertaking without some feeling of satisfaction. He believes that the saying laugh and grow fat is true.

"That's the old pop."

Lawrence Allnutt Dawson

Rockville, Md.

"Babe."

Bus. Adm. Class Baseball (1), June Hop Committee, Lacrosse Squad (3), Variety Show (2), Hustling Committee (4), Class Vice President (2), Cotillion, Phi, Scimitar, 18 Club, Sword and Crescent, College Secretary (4), Arcadia (4), Chi Phi.

Born on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation Babe was a regular attendant at the Indian day school until seven years old. Thus this mind which began to mature so early has ever been a bit ahead in the race though like many men who have lived and thought in advance of their times he has been checked by a more conservative force spoken of in the best society as the Faculty. But he did try a few other schools until he had gotten far enough East to enter Bethlehem Prep in 1910. Then came Lehigh. The rest need not be told. Suffice it to say that though he has been somewhat of a formal dress artist he knows more about cactus, rattle snakes and horn toads than about kil gloves and full dress suits.

*"Sure How they coming?"
"You bet."*

Harry Craven Dayton

Port Jefferson, L. I., N. Y.

"Cupid," "Dayt."

Ch. E. Class Basketball (1-2), Class Lacrosse (1-3), Varsity Wrestling (3,4), Senior Banquet Committee, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4), Sword and Crescent, Kappa Sigma.

In the wilds of Long Island, Harry awoke some twenty-one years ago to see the Sound and hear the Sea on Port Jefferson's moonlit beach, but the Isle slept on in colossal ignorance of the prospective chemist that was in its midst. Among the ladies Cupid is so far ahead that you can't time him. When they see those trustful eyes that haven't a chance. "To the one I love with the big blue eyes." Harry knows Prof. Mealey by his first name and is on good terms with the 2 A. M. from New York, and in fact has never allowed his studies to interfere with his college education.

As a chemical engineer we can easily see him revolutionizing the industry (a dance floor for every lab.) We can predict every success for Dayt in the engineering line, provided he doesn't decide to turn doctor or undertaker in order to cooperate with the Red Cross or other nurses.

"That's discouraging."

Brant Smith Derr

Baltimore, Md.

"Kewpie," "Husky," "Bill."

C. E. Maryland Club, President (4), Treasurer (3), C. E. Society, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4), Wrestling Squad (2-3), Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Where is this place Turbotville? But however, when Kewpie came to years of discredit, he decided on Baltimore as a place of abode and later was graduated from B. P. I. Although he was not with us during the Freshman year, he soon won his place, namely, as an assistant chief bandit at the L. U. Supply Bureau. We have no doubt that with three years training under our own F. R. A., he will be able to either hold up or hold down any task the world may set before him. Whenever he sits down on a thing it is down, demonstrating that his veto is absolute.

Most of the dope in the C. E. Course is clear as crystal to him and he can proceed to give clearer explanations after a very short acquaintance, in fact a quite brief acquaintance.

"You get the Brown Derby."

Doron Dosch

Elizabeth, N. J.

"D" Doron.

M. E. Class Football and Basketball (1), Varsity Basketball Squad (1,2,3), M. E. Society.

History records for the twenty eighth day of November, 1895, considerable commotion and agitation in the little town of Miambsburg, Ohio. Anxious citizens peeped out of their doors and asked, "What is it all about?" The answer came, "Whisper it softly, there is an heir to the House of Dosch." As the infant grew older, his legs lengthened and fists became larger until a point was reached where the little town could hold him no longer. So he went to Dayton for a while and thence to Elizabeth, where he helps to manage the Singer factories. At the same time he prepped at Pingry and came to Lehigh.

Doron is a good fellow, as his brother M. E.'s and all others who know him will testify. He likes to watch a poker game, but would not think of participating in one. He neither chews, drinks, nor swears, but he is passionately fond of his pipe. Here's best wishes to Doron.

"Silence is deep as Eternity, speech is shallow as time."

Victor Hugo Doushkess

New York, N. Y.

"Shorty," "Vic."

B. S. in Math. Arts and Science.

Some place in Drown Hall with his face buried in the sporting page of a newspaper, in the most comfortable position imaginable, you'll find Vic. This building was established as his headquarters early in his college course and from time to time house committees have sought him out as the one man thoroughly familiar with that building. No man knows the rules better than he and no one violates them oftener. Taking the course in which only the strongest survive he has come to the close ready to swear by Venus and Jupiter that Thorny is the best on earth. Yes he'll tell you how this "Education" is all rot and that Thorny has the only straight dope, but don't believe it for our little friend is an enthusiast who is at his best when discussing the more intricate workings of a man's mind from a mathematical standpoint. A cynic? No. But one who sees the fault and will not cover it with sugar coated statements.

"What's the dope?"

Philip H. Drinker
South Bethlehem, Pa.

“Phil.”

Ch. E. Pres. Chemical Society (4).

Drinker redeemed himself when he came to Lehigh after searching in the halls of Old Nassau for some bits of knowledge. Practically and virtually he prepared for Lehigh at Princeton and many times he has thrown himself back in an easy chair and wondered whether that preparation was at all complete. He has been a consistent and diligent worker, plying his way three times a day between the President's home and the Chemical Building. He proved himself a star chamber artist when his coup d'état landed him in the president's chair of his course society. We have watched Phil and are inclined to agree with the saying that he is a chip off the old block. Enthusiastic for the election of a certain C. E. Hughes he joined a loyal band one night and then with three others made the hall ring with cheers for their candidate. We are sorry that Phil was unable to enter Lehigh four years ago and to have weathered the storm tossed sea with us—but it was the will of Allah.

“I come before you not as President of the Chemical Society but as a chemical engineer.”

Alan Edmond Dynan
Bethlehem, Pa.

“Al,” “Dym,” “Diamond.”

E. M. Class Basketball (1), Varsity Basketball (2,3,4), Secretary, Mining and Geological Society.

Alan is among those whose misfortune it was to be born in Bethlehem, but right well has he born up under the ordeal and went thru Bethlehem Prep mainly on his skill in basketball. Showing an unusual mentality for one so young, for he was sixteen, he chose the Mining Course and entered Lehigh. He has since spent most of his time playing basketball and what was left he used for study. Al has probably passed more courses with a 6.0 than any other man in college, but the main thing is he does pass them. Not by such a margin has he been rolling up points for the basketball five for there he has chosen to make every effort count by safe limits. Al hasn't been making much noise during his stay at Lehigh, but that does not mean he never will. He grew to the clouds while quite young and he may repeat that in other fields—we'll see.

“Men are used as they use others.”

Stanley Townsend Edwards

Olyphant, Pa.

"Doc."

M. E. Class Baseball (1,2), Baseball Squad (1), Brown and White Board (1, 2), Class Secretary (1), Class President (2), Mustard and Cheese (2), Minstrel Show (1), Cotillion, Scimitar, Kappa Beta Phi, Phi Delta Theta.

Olyphant claims Doc as a native son despite the fact that his prowess along other lines has done much to overshadow this fact. The town did wake up 'tis true. Combining many admirable qualities with his natural good nature this little engineer arrived fresh from Exeter to storm Lehigh's earthworks. Fight he did for two successive opening nights to bring his class out the victors. His generalship had been proved beyond a doubt as he emerged the close of a second year the Little Napoleon of his class. But time and its changes work wonders. A man of ability along many lines who can turn his mind to many tasks and do them well. When he is enthusiastic for a thing he makes it go.

"Wait a minute."

John Luther Etter

Baltimore, Md.

"Cutey."

C. E.

During a heavy fog which hung over the Monumental City on the morning of Oct. 15, 1894, there was heard a peculiar braying which upon investigation proved to be the first solo rendered by Cutey Etter. After fourteen years of exile in Altoona, Pa., he reappeared in Baltimore. Here he busied himself for five years with preparation for Lehigh. He is here. His arrival upon the slopes of our noble old South Mountain spread joy among the hearts of the teaching staff and spelled ruin for the myriad flock of youthful and trusting beauties who ply the art of Terpsichore under the dazzling and electrical influence of Mealey's and the Colosseum. We look to our John to go out into the world and take his place, not only behind a transit but on the slippery floor. Then either sweet music or the whistling of the wind will be the chief means of arousing his spirits to an expression of their fullest powers.

James William Fehnel

Bethlehem, Pa.

"Bill."

Chem.

It was on one of those bright June days now nearly twenty-three years ago when Bill looked out the window and for the first time viewed Lehigh University and the embryonic Bethlehem Steel Works. He never dreamed that some day he like they would grow up, but he did. This growth, thought those who looked after his training, must needs be well cared for and thus he started to school with the opening year of a new century. On he sailed until the latter part of June but this time it was 1912 and he walked from the Bethlehem High School with a diploma tucked carefully under his arm. Then came the assault upon Lehigh and like Verdun he was sure it could be taken however great the losses might be. Unfortunately he could not be graduated with this class but the honor is all his in being allowed to place himself in the younger group.

Samuel E. Fishburn

Haverhill, Mass.

"Sammy."

Bus. Adm. Arcadia (3), Varsity Baseball (1,2,3,4), Captain (3), Sword and Crescent.

He met the Colonel after absorbing most of New England's culture and started toward Coppee Hall. With a baseball mitt in one hand and a bat in the other, he arrived in our midst in the fall of 1913 and since then he has been dumbfounding the local fans with big league antics around short stop. As Captain he led his nine through the most successful baseball season Lehigh has had in many a year. Aside from this Sam has shown some ability as a psychologist, astounding at times those who tried to trip him. In an argument he has been quite versatile, this undoubtedly due to the wide range of subjects on which he can argue, taking one side with as much ease as another.

Whether this New Englander decides to become a business man, lawyer, or psychologist, he leaves with prospects bright for success.

"Pat," "Mike"

El. Met. Class Football (1), Cotillion, Sigma Chi.

Gentle reader, withhold judgment, for this aspiring youth comes from the ancient and tiny Quaker settlement called Philly and is therefore to be classed among the descendants of William Penn. That the scientific side of the electro-metallurgy needed additional members he felt certain and forthwith started at the foot of the ladder viewing aloft the dizzy heights to which he must soon ascend. It appears that during his Junior year the rungs weakened, then quivered, then broke and down into the cold world he fell with a thump. Nevertheless he is back again and going on with the old social and scholastic pep—on the right side of the owner of "My Father's Furnace" and with a taste of what comes after a diploma. There are men who have made Lehigh famous who have gone out into the world without a sheep skin but Pat believes that had they come back they would have made Alma Mater a bit more famous. Hence the cause for a return with the love of college and class paramount.

Bullet, so named from the similarity of his dome to the above mentioned play toy, rambles in from the green, bug infested meadows of northern Jersey. Cemeteries seem to be his main dissipation, he having spent many languishing hours contemplating the beauty of the local "hone orchards." Ever alert to picking up knowledge, he has "picked up" most everything in South Bethlehem at some time or other.. This seems rather incongruous with the fact that he is an apostle of the "Good Lord" and "Jimmy" Fry. Due to this quality we can picture him the father of a large family of nuts chauffering an ash can for the daily bread and aspiring to the presidency of the "Scavengers Protective Association."

Curtis Lee Garrett

Baltimore, Md.

"Curtis," "C. L. G."

E. E. Vice President Maryland Club (4), E. E. Society.

Our friend Curtis, after receiving the fundamentals of engineering at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, decided to come to Lehigh to spend four years. He early developed a talent for electrical work and upon his arrival here enrolled as a member of Bill's Gang. During his stay at Lehigh he has become quite proficient in his line, in fact, both Bill and Dutchy are envious of this second Steinmetz. C. L. G. is not quite as ambitious as Thornburg. He is nevertheless convinced that a few things around college should be changed. According to his opinion chapel exercises should be made voluntary and classes should start at 9 A. M. during the fall and spring and no later than 10 A. M. in winter. Curtis, as he is called by almost everybody who knows him, is a genial, quiet, but nevertheless observing fellow. Much of his conversation pertains to Allentown, women and modern systems of lighting in opera houses. On this latter subject he may be considered an authority.

Gill insists that he made his initial appearance in this world on the wings of the blizzard of '95, in fact to be quite exact, February 10. He learned the fundamentals of Jacksonian Democracy in his own home town and then as a matter of course, or to keep a college custom, he came to Lehigh and following in his brothers' footsteps he has been BA-ing ever since, that is whenever he could find time out from Brown and White or Epitome work. To be editor-in-chief of both publications was the least of his worries. His real ambition is to see or make Lehigh more democratic politically and otherwise. He works while others sleep. But a few nights he is absent which seems to indicate that some one has persuaded him to renounce bachelorhood.

"Joe,"

Bus. Adm. Business Administration Club

We certainly hate to admit it; but murder will out, and we regret to say that Joe looked out upon the smoke beclouded sky of So. Bethlehem, realizing that misfortune had been cruelly thrust upon him, by an unkind Fate. Joe set out at once to retrieve himself and after going thru Bethlehem Prep. he came to Lehigh, enrolling as a mining engineer. The study of rocks and minerals, with drills and chemical analyses, proved a problem a trifle out of his line. Some would call it Fate, for under the smoke of South Bethlehem can there be any sign of good fortune. But to others the problem is a bit different. He saw in the wrestling with economic problems a bigger task than digging for filthy lucre from between layers of hard rock. The bigger task attracted him and forthwith the migration from the Coxe Laboratory to Coppee Hall where something other than formulae and mathematical problems confront youthful minds.

"Bob,"

E. E. Lacrosse Squad (3, 4), Theta Xi.

Robert Tyson Greer, alias Bob, was born in Baltimore, Md., not that it argues against him. He has been somewhat of a nomad as far as classes are concerned, for first he fought for 1918, then 1917, and finally for 1918 again after he had become a Junior. His famous old broken derby was the first thing that brought him to the attention of the college world. Since the loss of this antique, he has never become reconciled to buying another. He is a born rough-house artist and has cultivated this accomplishment during his three years at Lehigh. "Bob" is a good, all around fellow, and is liked by all who know him well. He certainly will never be known as a grind.

After convincing one section of the Dorms that the enjoyment in life consisted in making it exciting, he moved off the hill and did missionary work elsewhere, finally carrying his religion to the lacrosse field where he has kept up the good work by making every man feel insecure when he trots on the field.

Theodore Knauss Hagey

Hellertown, Pa.

"Ted," "Dory," "Al."

E. E. Varsity Baseball (1-2).

From the adjacent city of Hellertown, this butcher's son comes to us every day. Instead of following his father's foot steps Ted would rather butcher some of the electrical theories offered by the E. E. Department. Perhaps it was due to his hereditary instincts that he killed the ball in the Lafayette series but we never blamed his father for that. Dory got all the credit. He was graduated from Bethlehem Prep. before crossing the river and then entered with the class of 1916, but stayed out of school one year in order to wait for us. He is better looking than the rest of the bunch in his course but he is Dutch which keeps him at a lower level. When the roll is called in June we expect to have Hagey with us for we know his smile and Dutch laugh. That will help him make good and he will help make 1917 better known.

Lorenzo Frederick Hagglund

Huntington, N. Y.

"Ren."

B. A. Deutscher Verein, Junior Oratorical Contest, Arts and Science.

Unheralded he came from that little New York town and perched himself on Fountain Hill, there to remain for the whole of his college course. He wanted to see the University from a distance and to view the possibilities which presented themselves from afar. But Ren, though he had withdrawn from the crowd, has made friends among those who have been privileged to associate with him. A thorough student, he has at all times placed his work before pleasure, even to the point of delving into politics long enough to help elect Wilson. But like in that election he has always been willing to fight for his convictions regardless of the views held by those about him. An Arts man, German student, and orator, our silent friend will some day speak in more certain and louder tones—we hope.

Butch, the Johnstown kid, succeeded in trimming all comers, including the Faculty, though on one occasion the escape was so narrow that for hours he knew not whether he was on or under the ropes, but before the count he rose and pushed on with new aggressiveness. Now that he has caught his second wind friends are picturing him as the congenial head of some metallurgical concern. They argue that with his winning smile and sharp wit he is sure to make progress for never do they doubt the existence of a fund of technical training which serves as a foundation.

Allentown attracted him at once and from a private he now is commander of the army on the 12.10. The Lehigh Valley Transit Co. will lose no time employing him once his application is received. Why go to Allentown to enjoy the shows which come for one night, especially--

"Dick,"

E. E. Tau Beta Phi, Wrestling Squad (1,2), Banquet Committee (2).

Carroll came to us from the coal regions, first seeing the light of day Dec. 26, 1893. Some claim that he was a delayed Christmas present but that all depends on what happens as time rolls on. At the M. and M. Institute in his home town he acquired the wisdom which has since stood him in good stead first by changing his name to Dick and then by leaving Freeland for Philadelphia. At this place he asserts that the girls are the best ever. Then comes the question. On leave of absence for one year to get experience in that town we have been at a loss to know, from the accounts he gives, what kind of experience he searched for. At any rate he came back filled with pep, indicating that something had been acquired. A friend of the mountains Dick is by virtue of his early environment a hunter. In this vicinity he has found plenty of game, so much in fact, that Sunday afternoons find him on the mountain side.

Nashville, Tenn.

"Stan."

E. M. Class Football (1,2), Cotillion, Scimitar, Kappa Beta Phi, Delta Phi.

Stan wandered up here from the land of juleps in 1913, and thought he would stay awhile. Studies have interfered with his college education at times, but he has not grumbled, and an ability to plug at the right time has pulled him thru. Now and then he would disappear, but soon back he'd come with a hearty hand-shake, better and wiser, for his little vacation. He has never interpreted education as mere book learning.

With strong opinions on certain things he never antagonizes anyone and has been a friend of all. With a spirit of good fellowship, a strong sense of justice, an appreciation of that which is fine and beautiful, and a good taste in dress, he is a product of which Tennessee may be proud. So long, Stan, and if we drift down to Nashville we know you will show us a good time.

To take a look at Jim, one would never guess that he was born and raised in the soft coal fields. Yes, he was. In the town of Franklin, on Oct. 2, 1892, Jim made his appearance in this cold, cold world. From Franklin he moved into the wilds of Kentucky where he learned a few bad habits. Jim couldn't stand the Kentucky mountaineers, with their uncouth ways, so he induced his family to take to a more refined place. Morgantown was the result. Here he was educated (?). After two years in the Prep. Dept. he entered West Virginia University, but it failed to hold him. For he had heard about Allentown from a traveling salesman and incidentally that Lehigh was only five miles away. The result was that he came to Allentown and attended Lehigh. His course in human nature has been one of the best planned given at Lehigh. It is entirely elective and therefore he is able to get just what he wants and whenever, with no quizzes to worry about.

Bus. Adm. Varsity Relay and Track Team (1,2,3), Class Track Captain (1,2,3), Collegiate Champion 440 and 880 yd. runs. Holder Lehigh Quarter Mile Record, Y. M. C. A. Born in Philadelphia some twenty-five years ago Scotty made his way through the necessary schools in the city of Philadelphia, finally being graduated from the Central High School back in 1909. From here he went into business and learned banking in its more practical phases. Thirst for knowledge brought him to Bethlehem Prep. from whence he was graduated in 1913, prepared to enter Lehigh in the Autumn. He did and got a flying start. Previous experience and training enabled him to complete his four year course in three.

Born and "brung up" in the metropolis of Pretzel Factories and Beer Foundries, this butcher athlete and heart-breaker after mastering his native vernacular decided to put some class into the Arts and Science Course. His powers of concentration and capacity for hard work leave little doubt but that his future career as an honest politician of the Boise Penrose type will be a success. His initial step in this direction occurred when he elected himself one arly morning at Bob's Section Chief and also Treasurer of Price Hall, where the inmates are now experiencing "War Prices." He opposed the honor system because he thought it was only a system and lacked the support which was essential. His arguments were regarded as radical.

'Twas in the faraway lowland hamlet of Leith, Scotland, on Sept. 22, 1895, that this sandy haired tower of strength first startled the world at large. Rumor has it that Hendy cut his teeth upon a leather sphere. But be that as it may, after emigrating to this country and trying to find a state to his liking, while looking around Hendy saw that Lehigh was sorely in need of a soccer team. Hendy soon showed his ability along several lines, first he has, with but small exertion upon his part, successfully held the faculty at bay; secondly, he has resisted the charms of all local femininity, and lastly he has never failed to be there when someone wanted to start "something." Sandy is known as a lover of all games and sports, can argue convincingly on both sides of any question and has made a host of friends here at college. Hendy should make a success of anything he undertakes, but as to how long he can ward off the gentler sex is in doubt.

Back in 1891, there arrived a little Christmas present just two days late in the person of Lauriston Benjamin. After spending a year at Franklin and Marshall, Punk decided to go to the rescue of the Pennsylvania Steel Company's interests in Cuba. Four years later he entered Lehigh and has since proved himself to be a student of no mean ability. When it came to Forestry he knew it two ways, proving both a practical and scientific turn of mind. Speak of pine trees to him and he'll wake up and begin to discuss pinus palustris and point out how it differs from the pinus echinata in certain details. With his capacity for work and his ability as a linguist (most of these languages apply after 10 P. M.) we predict that this characteristic will, when necessary, be of value before this hour. And whether digging coal or chopping trees or prospecting for gold the consensus of opinion is that Punk will get there.

George made his appearance on this mortal sphere on Jan. 24, 1891, in the town of Oxford, Pa. He started to get an education in the Oxford public schools, but later changed to Tome School. Tome thought it could congratulate itself when he was graduated in '09, but George stuck around for another year and took a P. G. course in shop work and drawing. He finally landed in the locomotive erecting and repair shop of the Pennsylvania R. R. at Wilmington, Del. Three years of the strenuous life proved too much for him, so he finally entered Lehigh in 1913. From present indications, he is going to qualify as a Mealyite and Allentown Passer. There was a time when George thought faster than his tongue could move, hence a rather strange mixture of words. But care and the listener have modified this until now he can talk to any lady without thinking. But this does not mean that he never thinks for he has shown some tendencies in that direction while raising a toothbrush on his upper lip. Along this line George would be the man to lecture on masculine beauty spots.

E. E. Class Football (1), Musical Clubs (1), Kappa Alpha.

Tommy began life under the handicap of being born in Ashland, Pa. Later he moved to Englewood, N. J., where he at once picked up. Tom was quite an athlete to say nothing of being the champion lady killer at Englewood High. He upheld this reputation at Lehigh until he was forced to stop by an attack of pneumonia. He made a game attempt to come back but had lost too much ground. However, Tom is still single and expects to have a monopoly on flour in a short time. His chances now seem to be on the up-hill grade. We'll not accuse him of an attempt to force prices to a higher level. Unfortunately we were unable to become well acquainted with this Jerseyite-by-adoption. There is a great world outside the University and Tommy has gotten there before the rest of us, and that makes a difference.

"A. C."

M. E. Chief of Section C (4), M. E. Society.

When we speak of A. C. and mental terminating currents it naturally seems to strike the mind as a synonym for something fast and snappy. But with Hoover this is somewhat of a misnomer unless his conduct when in an argument is to be regarded as typical. But it is not.

A. C. spent two years at Panama helping Col. Goethals dig the big ditch. While there he claims that the intense tropical heat burnt out that particular portion of his grey matter which is necessary for the mastery of Analytical Mechanics and Differential Equations. In consequence of this display of patriotism he has been kept out of the race for a few months. It was only temporary. Back in the game A. C. is plugging away with the same old determination and never say quit spirit. He may not get there first but he will arrive some time.

It was on that cold day, Jan. 14, 1895, that a commotion in the form of Gilbert Cunkle Howard changed the atmosphere of Steelton. Gil had come to brave the cold and storm and after honoring Steelton High with a dozen years of his un-failing energy he set his foot on the threshold of Lehigh. As Gil was always interested in the marvels of engineering he decided to pursue the C. E. course.

Aside from the serious side of college studies Bert also shines in the social whirl. Prof. Mealey and this C. E. have been considering the opening of a grand auditorium at the foot of the Campus—in order to be in with the progressive movement of the Bethlehems.

As an engineer we know Bert will show the world that there are no problems too difficult to be solved.

Jake is a Baltimorean (which has nothing to do with his appetite, however). He was graduated from the Baltimore City College in 1912, and two years later bought a Freshman cap from Freddie. Berny speedily developed a strong dislike for finals and a speaking acquaintance with the conductor of the 12.10. He also acquired the ambition to "out-Plug Plug" and in order to get an early start is only staying with us three years.

Jake is always ready to tell what he knows and to tack on the end, gratis, that he is certain he is right showing a willingness to prove it. But even with that he should succeed.

Great Western Cowboy Drama. Here—Red Jenness the terrible, born in Chicago, 1896, moving to Henry, Ill., in 1901. Scene—Somewhere in Bethlehem.

Plot of Story:—Red after capturing all the cowboy girls in Henry came east. Many of his opponents still praise his skill and quite a few have to thank him for escaping alive.

Born in the City of Brotherly Love on the sixth day of April, 1896, Phil was soon lured into the enterprising suburbs of that great metropolis. His work in preparation for the great battle of life has always been marked by a quiet thoroughness which speaks for ultimate success. In his sleep he is of all men the most thorough, for neither noise nor alarm clock shall break into the quietude of his peacefulness. Naturally at times this has caused the eliminating from a day's work a single hour, but its loss is amply recompensed in the ability to better hit the rest.

Phil believes in Preparedness and Safety First, but his exact opinion of Woman's Suffrage is still in doubt. The entrance of this modest and unassuming little Quaker lad into Lehigh was unheralded and without glitter and display, but he has steadily worked himself up in the esteem and hearts of his classmates.

In the fall of 1911 a business like appearing young man began to pace between Cassidy Hall and Coppee but no one knew whence he came but all knew whither he was going. It was Austy who decided that C. C. N. Y. was too near home to get a good education, especially in high finance, so he came to Lehigh. Since then he has been setting the pace for his classmates, sometimes it is a little too swift but that does not destroy the fact that he leads the list. He prepared for Lehigh and DeWitt Clinton High School, and then one year at the New York College. Kammy's library and newspaper work have marked him as one of the most hungry readers on the Campus. A diligent student, this dark-haired—though almost bald—gentleman has made a mark, and whether he goes to Nevada or Bolivia big things will be expected of him.

Wilkes-Barre sent us another specimen. This time it is an original one. No doubt an authority on Kinematics, sliding pairs, and eccentric automobile wheels is here.

Howard Elmer was born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 22, 1894, and prepared for Lehigh at Wilkes-Barre High. This school did not know what a genius it had in its little Willie. Bill is the father of a striking invention, which, like all great inventions, was discovered by a mere accident. While trying to run a gasoline engine on kerosene oil, he made the startling discovery that indicators fly, when not screwed to the base.

He is quite ingenious and as a fusser second to none. He does wear eccentric eye glasses to intensify that dignity.

Doe was born in Philadelphia on May 29th, 1894, and the following day was declared a legal holiday all over the country. The streets of the staid old town were thronged with people, the blaring of bands and the steady tread of marching feet were heard all day. Such was the joy in town when Doe's arrival was announced. Northeast Manual was selected to instruct this promising youth and from here he went to Ohio State, altho he was big enough to go to work, but the change of climate proved too much for him and so he decided to enter a real school and Lehigh was favored with his presence. Since he entered here he has taken an active interest in wrestling and for two years has managed the team. He might be better known if he had not chosen electrical engineering as his course.

"Kinky," "Corky,"

Born in William Penn's two story City of Brotherly Love, this little gentleman became restless and demanded in no uncertain terms that some more progressive town should be his home. Forthwith he come to Bethlehem but time has proven to him that he was wrong, though much against his intentions he has assimilated the characteristics of the community. Living in the vicinity of the Moravian theologians, he has walked the straight and narrow path which leads to South Mountain and after four years to the cold world, but he has done it.

Early in his Freshman year Corky displayed in the gym classes real ability as a soccer player. After learning the game he was content and began to impart his knowledge by the coaching route to de gang and the M. C. men. We have nothing against Kingy because he is local talent for verily we do believe that his bulldog determination will stand him in good stead some day.

Chester was born in Colorado but made his abode in Cambridge, Mass., until ten years of age, at which time he moved to Kingston, N. Y., and he still calls that city his home. On being graduated from Ulster Academy in 1913, he found law the profession most appealing to him and in his original method, decided that a technical education would be the best foundation for that work. To this effect, he entered Lehigh though many of us can hardly understand where he gets the connection between Fourier and Blackstone.

He is fond of travel and his time is divided between Allentown, Easton, and New York, but he always gets there in his studies and if he is as good a lawyer as the score indicates we'll hear from him again. Especially among his classmates in his own course, has he distinguished himself by a frank manner and intellectual ability.

George Reinoehl Kinter

Harrisburg, Pa.

"Kint," "G. K."

Ch. E. Chief of Section E, Taylor Hall.

The Capital City of the Commonwealth has sent this contribution who believes that Lehigh should have a sort of West Point annex to train future officers of the army and insists that headwork is the thing and that chemical engineering can make any process pay—even extracting gold from sea water.

That is the alpha and omega of his ideas though they know no bounds. Though he watched the plot to assist the State in using up surplus cash by constructing a Capitol building he objected to the principle and still does object. Some men can be bought at a low figure and for this reason he favors universal military training and soccer as the real intercollegiate sport. From the one men cannot purchase release and for positions on the team the other has as yet not proved itself lucrative enough to begin an importation. Spirit to him means something more than satisfying selfish desires. It means sacrifice for the good of the college community.

Dick was born among the coal fields of Scranton, Pa., in the year of our Lord 1893, and from long practice in dumping coal out of his crib, kicking it out of his way and running between cave ins, he developed into an all around football, basketball, track and baseball player. Dick knocked about the schools of Scranton playing football and basketball principally until he was graduated, when he first showed signs of dawning intelligence by refusing to go to Lafayette and came to Lehigh. For four years he has been arguing his way past Baldy, seeking a degree of B. S.

"Perc," "Kit."

When Pere first gained consciousness sometime after June 5, 1895, he found himself in Brooklyn. In his early youth he partook of what little education the town afforded but soon realized that preparedness is best so went to New York Military Academy. When college opened in 1913 he appeared as you see him today, natty and neat, having chosen for a future career Mining Engineering. From that time on Pere made rapid strides in the student world, as a famous actor in the Mustard and Cheese. But greater things were in store for him so after two years we find Kit in the lonely confines of Arizona mining copper and busting bronchos. He left the border, however, just before Villa came across and returned to us with cactus in his hair. We dare not prophesy what the future has in store for Pere but whether a miner, actor, a Vernon Castle or Ambulance Driver we are sure to find him some place near the front.

Many times he has wondered why studies should be allowed to interfere with college activities though this with other considerations did influence his choice of course. After carefully examining the roster of studies he decided to take Chemistry which is the course best defined as one recitation and three lectures per week; but the writing up of reports he overlooked. Though practice alone has been emphasized the other element. Now he is rooted firmly in society both in the neighborhood of the Chemistry Building and in the foreign field (Allentown). When Dutch first landed in this ancient iron city he did not have the polish of his later years but since then he has learned much, assisted chiefly by that most rigid of all task masters—experience. Now he can handle a razor and knows all the inside dope on glass throwing. On the gridiron he showed real pluck and after four years of thumping

Behold, fair readers, the other half of the Senior Elmetts., who at the age of twelve worked his first Met. problem. After this precocious youth was graduated from Mercersburg, he was sent to Lehigh because he was getting far too familiar with a red-haired girl from Johnstown. It is rumored around College that were it not for Nuts and his sage advice, Plug would have never reached his enviable position; but we know that although Plug had his eye on Nuts for his private secretary, Nuts declined. If Nuts ever becomes president of the Robeson Iron Works—may the gods help the Iron Works.

He is another specimen of the advance made by the Dutch during the past century while in control of the language of Berks County. They have ruined the beautiful English language because they preferred dialect but Nuts promises to return and correct this evil. For future Lehigh students let's wish him success.

"Luiz," "Lu,"

E. E. Theta Xi.

Luiz L. LaCombe, better known as Louie, is a native of South America, having been born in the town of Retrepolis, Brazil. He came to this country in 1904 and attended public schools in Philadelphia, where he was graduated from the Southern High School in 1910. He entered Lehigh with the class of 1914 but his work was interrupted by a call to return home, thus keeping him from his desire to study electrical apparatus for two years. But the happy return came and in the year 1915 he again took up his arduous duties and started after the E. E. degree with renewed vigor. Lui will not be known among his friends for the amount of studying he has been doing for that he has always considered an evil to be carefully and skillfully avoided. Among his friends he numbers more alumni than most of the members of his class.

Stop while we introduce Langy. This shark was born April 13, 1894, in Allegheny, Pa., and like all respectable(?) individuals of that smoky region, honored Allegheny High School with his presence. Fate introduced him to the University of Pittsburgh where he is being forgotten as a football player and a Mexican athlete. The University of Pittsburgh bestowed upon him all the honors a mortal being could hold; but looking still higher, our Pete entered Lehigh with advanced standing.

His greatest achievements in our Alma Mater are:—He ran for the presidency of the Senior Class and Mechanical Engineering Society. He was more successful as an instructor at Mealey's where the grateful pupils are going to give him a pension for he never missed a Saturday night in that abode of sisterly love. With reluctance, John admits that he was born in Scranton, adding in haste that he moved to Buffalo at an early age, "as soon as possible," as he puts it. According to him, the "Wimmen" are all right, although he shows no decided tendency towards any one in particular.

John is peculiar in that liking the fair sex as he does, he refuses to dance with them. Just hates it, that's all. It's waste of perfectly good time and shoe leather—to say nothing of patience. Everybody has come to the conclusion that if all of those nice, deep, comfortable, sleep producing chairs and lounges were removed from the Sigma Phi house and Drown Hall, it might all be different. He has worn a hole in every one of them. Johnny's sterling qualities are sure to bring him success in the Business World.

"Dief."

Elmet.

This "Star of Bethlehem," for he is one of those shining lights on an otherwise steel gray horizon, took a notion to become an educated man, hence he proceeded to be graduated from Bethlehem High School and did that with honors. Education to him meant a well-balanced individual. Then he did not neglect the social or athletic aspects. On the waxed floor he is a frequent if not admirable performer, tripping the light fantastic at all the University dances and ninety per cent. of those held in this vicinity. Practice makes perfect is a claim of some and he is getting the practice. To be a good conversationalist in Bethlehem he soon realized that he must know the steel works and be a soccer enthusiast. He did both.

Joining Plug's battalion Dief enrolled with Lehigh's most troublesome, and sometimes called, though not accurately, its dumbest class. He'll be there at the finish for we'll be looking for him.

Thomas Smith Leoser

"Tom," "Thos."

E. E. Art Editor of Burr, Art Prize 1917 Epitome, Cotillion, Phi. Theta Delta Chi.

Mosquitoes are not the only species of living things that thrive in New Jersey, for Thomas Smith Leoser was taught the art of fooling skeeters one warm day in July, 1893, at Elizabeth, N. J. Not only has he foiled skeeters but every one else and when you look at Tom you'll see that he is still thriving. His preliminary education began in a kindergarden somewhere in Pennsylvania. Moravian Parochial School was next and of course it was co-ed. A diploma was his reward from Morris Academy where he prepared for Lehigh and then entered with the class of 1916 as a protege of Bill Esty and the Dutchman. However, the going was too good so he reversed and changed his numerals to 17, but on account of poor health he resigned from academic work to accept a position as draftsman for the Bethlehem Steel Company.

Tom was known for his observing attitude and won recognition for Epitome and Burr work. There is something Lehigh about that LEOSER.

Did you all evah see this lil' fellah? O' cose you all has. Ere the sun had set on the eve of Nov. 6, 1895, this shrimp had been added to this, our rather turbulent universe. Ambition should have been his first handle for early in his Freshman year he turned into the road which was later to lead him to fame and glory. Milt has been one of the busiest men in college and if he keeps up his business career he may yet manage another scientific paper like the Police Gazette. Shorty's movements are rather mysterious as he keeps us more or less in the dark as to his whereabouts at night; however, we may accurately say that he is one of the best patrons of the Lehigh Valley Transit Company.

"T. I., "Ted."

E. M. President, Chinese Students Club (4), Junior Member of American Institute of Mining Engineers.

He came to us after visiting rival engineering institutions and for the wisdom he displayed we have always admired him. The dragon he held in fear when his geology hammer struck its spinal column. Little did he care for that for he saw the larger idea—China's vast resources going to waste because no one knew how to get them out. Ted will set to work after he gets that diploma and when he begins to unearth the hidden treasure prices may take a slump.

He has been a friend of men and they a friend of him. Trying to learn American customs he has more than succeeded and if you doubt this ask him about his escapades in the Beth'lems. We're not looking for T. I. to start a revolution when across the Pacific but we are looking for big things when he starts to burrow deep into Mother Earth.

B. S. in Geol. Mandolin Club (2, 3), Band (2, 3), Musical Director of Mustard and Cheese (3), Chemical Society (2), Mining and Geological Society (3).

Speed was inherent in him from the start for he aeroplaned his course at a rapid rate through Moravian Parochial School and Moravian College, only touching the high spots. He was unable to escape without having a B. S. degree inflicted upon him. Nature endowed Lookie with a number of accomplishments, for he has at various times shown dexterity as a twirler of the pill, prowess as a tennis player and technique as a musician. Music was his chief interest, and through a personally conducted tour in the high strata of music he proved himself so capable of directing orchestras that he became Musical Director of the Mustard and Cheese. Be it not thought that Lookie was always sailing about in ethereal melodious space for his managerial capacities were exercised to a striking degree at Plattsburg, where he was in charge of the Battalions' supplies.

"Bunny," "Mac,"

E. M. Senior Class Book Committee, Tau Beta Pi, President, Mining and Geological Society (4), Drown Hall House Committee (4), Cotillion, Cyamide, Sword and Crescent, Class Baseball (1), Sigma Chi.

Bunny comes from Harrisburg, which city boasts of two other prizes, the Capitol building and Harrisburg Tech., where he first received his training for Lehigh. When neatness counts he is one hundred per cent. efficient and we earnestly believe that though cloths do not make the man they add wonderfully. He was not built for speed and this factor oftentimes plays an important part in his everyday life. Scholastically, Bunny is in the front line but for some reason the electrical department was not modelled after his idea of a senior year at Lehigh. With the so-called fairer sex he has made progress, but more than that he nearly leads in quality and quantity and here's more power to him.

May be the world wasn't tickled on the thirtieth day of May in the year of our Lord, 1896. Asheville, N. C., held its head high and why not? Was not it the proud place of nativity of a budding genius? Yep, Hammy hails from the Sunny South and well may it be proud of its son. At an early age, Mac showed tendencies of becoming an E. E. His personal magnetism and sparking qualities were undeniable proofs thereof. In consequence it was only natural that he should come to Lehigh. Lessons never held terrors for Mac. He took to studies and girls like a duck to water. Through it all, Hammy, and when that Dip adorns that boudoir, remember that we're still back of you. Born in the sleepy city, he always enjoyed his afternoon nap, but awake by some unknown power he led us all. We watched him star on the stage and off. As act by act his college career passed he won applause, admiration, respect. We who knew him will always remember him a good fellow, a friend, a man.

This Irishman who landed in Olyphant some twenty-four years ago has never lost his love for humanity nor its suffering. Four years in and about the mines convinced him that there was a place higher up for one of his qualities hence he determined to try to find it by the intellectual pathway in this Educational Mecca. Through the Bethlehem Prep. he went and then took up his headquarters in the Monastery on Delaware Avenue. During the first year Mac worked hard but then he slowed up due to the sand which got mixed in his joints after experimenting.

This most patient and sympathetic of our class has endured the hardships of administering spiritual food to Pennsylvania Dutch and having succeeded we feel little doubt but that after his sojourn at Harvard he will emerge a real, though cautious, Churchman.

"Mac," "Scotchman,"

M. E. Class Football (1), Cotillion, Sigma Phi.

This Scotchman has adhered to the belief that it is folly to munge words and that it is better to say nothing when you have nothing to say. He only speaks when he has something to say and then he never uses two words when one will suffice. Still waters run deep is a phrase frequently used and it may only be fair to ask if the depth varies directly with the stillness. This Scotchman came from Chicago to put the Easterners on edge and let them know that the West had men who could become real engineers. In his own way he has demonstrated this fact but that by no boisterous means. He has held decided views on subjects relative to college affairs which have had an influence in shaping opinion. Like the Scotchman it would be consistent to make this sketch short and snappy but that is an impossibility. The text presents innumerable possibilities which ought to be developed. But enough.

"Mac," "Maggy," "Mugsy."

E. E. President E. E. Society (4), Soccer Team (2), Drown Hall House Committee (4), Theta Delta Psi.

Shamokin is the birthplace of this promising Electrical Engineer, but that city couldn't hold him long so he moved to this metropolis and attended the South Bethlehem High School. Esty's course looked good to him and he got away with it in style. His sunny disposition and ready smile have gained him many friends for it is difficult to get him peeved by anything but a hard quiz, which will accomplish it. He is a student of soccer and you will find him at the Gym from four to six almost every day. But this activity has not been allowed to interfere with the training of his executive leanings. As the President of his course society Mugsy has ordered more masterful retreats than any other man in college who has been accorded a similar honor. In this the influence of Bill, his Chief of Staff, has been noteworthy.

"Zidbu."

B. A. Class Secretary (3, 4), Secy. Y. M. C. A. (4), Wrestling Squad, Deutscher Verein, Cyanide, Phi Delta Theta.

It's a far cry from the silence of a Freshman to the stern reserve of a dignified Senior. The gap is a wide one but this youth has bridged it. He came among us a silent if not a bashful boy, but he has changed as new situations presented themselves. Two visits to the hospital had their effect. Though forced to go through injuries, later when recuperated, his visits became voluntary but they were not allowed to interfere with his college work. 'Twould seem logical that after that experience he would prefer to stay away from that retreat, but not so. Strange!

Chief among his good qualities is his desire to be accurate which has made him the official scribe of the Class and Y. M. C. A. He will be neither a clerk nor a Latin instructor, but a physician. He shows signs favoring being one of the best and that is the least that will satisfy him.

Homer Frank Meschter

East Greenville, Pa.

"Mesch," "Pop."

Ch. E. Sigma Nu.

Homer was born in the bay metropolis of East Greenville, Pa., in the year 1896 and often do the staid pillars of the church sit around the old stove and hearken back to the day when the great event took place. After being graduated from Perkiomen he entered Lehigh and took Chemical Engineering, and now after four years of hard work in that department, we expect to see him emerge some bright June day and set out, seeking new worlds to conquer. Mesch has been silent enough during his sojourn at Asa Packer's school, but the day may not be far off when he will break the silence about one second after a test tube smashes. The possibilities for great chemists are enormous and Lehigh must supply her share or lose her prestige in the world of "education." Mesch has volunteered to take charge of the Lehigh section in this assault provided he is not expected to give the orders or deliver public addresses.

"Mess."

B. A. Williams Prize in English Composition (2), Wilbur Prize in English (2), First honors in Arts and Science Dept. (3), Deutscher Verein.

A model student Mess began to take life seriously at nine years of age when employed as an operator in the Western Union. But at this time he was a resident of Nazareth and absorbing the knowledge imparted at its highest school of learning he devoted spare time to wireless telegraphy but this in turn brought him to Lehigh. Sometimes we have had cause to wonder whether this gentleman does not even now make the trip from Coppee Hall to his home in Bethlehem by wireless for so little is seen of him. But the solution is otherwise, he has a desire for knowledge and in an effort to satisfy it he has forced into the background those things which place others in the shining light of publicity. A hard worker in college he should be a diligent one in life and we expect him to meet our estimates as at some future reunion when we ask.

James Earl Minnich

Robesonia, Pa.

"Dutch," "Bill."

C. E. C. E. Society, Wrestling Squad (2).

Twenty-four years ago the town of North Heidelberg was startled by the addition of Dutch. Our Earl after being graduated from Robesonia High and attending Kutztown Normal entered Lehigh as a bashful Frosh. But, oh, the change! Rumor has it that the damsels of Womelsdorf are the finest in the world. Certainly none would question his opinion on this delicate subject. His first aggressive campaign was planned against the east end of Packer Hall. His fight was gloriously won hence when the civils started on a journey to Saylorsburg the bunch was not forced to attempt to be comfortable in the same place. He has a real Dutch stubbornness which is a stone wall to any argument. No one dares to predict his future. Dutch took a vacation for two terms in order to get into closer touch with engineering as "she is done" but now returns to take part in the building up of a greater theoretically knowledge in order to be a more efficient C. E.

"Chick."

M. E.

On one of those melancholy days, the saddest of the year, Raymond first opened his eyes and noticed that on the calendar stood the date, Oct. 9, 1892—and he knew it was the biggest event in his life. Then began preparations for the sterner duties of life and through the high school and Perkiomen Seminary he went. Upon being graduated the call to duty in the school room was definite and forthwith two long years were spent teaching young ideas how to shoot. Turning to industry as an outlet for surplus energy he began to make schrapnel at the Bethlehem Steel and this had an undoubted effect in boosting common stock to 599 7-8. Chick is a confirmed misogynist but there are hopes that he will outgrow this attitude of mind. He is more interested in the advancement of science than the killing of men and that may account for his desperate effort to rescue the M. E. department from oblivion.

Ask for Bedell Mordaunt Neubert, C. E.—like Wilson, that's all. He was born in New York on the eighteenth of March, 1897. After favoring the Manor school with his presence for five years, he entered Lehigh with the class of 1917. Here his record in college work has been creditable.

Without being fiendish, he seems to have a leading role in the easiest way. Popular with almost all who know him, and that means everybody, he has held the squib shooting championship of his class, is a wrestler of renown in all forms,—gym, temptation, dancing, the glass that cheers, etc.

Prince took his stand in wrestling during his senior year and proved an opponent of no mean ability. It was the reward of four years of "hard labor"

Prince's only faults are being a good fellow and a promising engineer. Hoping you are the same, as H. Togo says, we wish him Godspeed.

Introducing Nick would not require any question as to where he hails from for after a short conversation his typical New England accent would place him in that land of highbrows. It was in and about New Haven, Conn., that most of his time was spent. After a thorough trial in at least two good preparatory schools (Peddie Institute and Bethlehem Prep.) he landed at Lehigh. A typical business man from the start he has supplied himself with a stack of books so high that we have grave doubts whether he will ever need more. Carefully he has opened each—and as carefully has he closed it, for by usage alone would this invaluable collection be damaged. Value varies inversely with the wear. With the fairer sex he has handled himself like a scholar—above reproach. If his stay here has been marred by anything it is that one regret that Packer did not build the University in Allentown. He first saw the rosy fingered dawn in Montrose and had it not been for Lehigh he might never have seen it anywhere else. The little summer resort, the home of many notables during the hot months, never fails to welcome its returning wonder for when any one gets into town after August 31st there sure must be something the matter. Mugsy has always worked hard though his greatest foe has been chemistry, but before the hot June sends its heat upon the green hillsides he promises to have thoroughly disqualified that enemy. A good fellow at heart, this big blonde, though an Irishman, who is proud of it, has made a host of friends. He has been loyal to all things while in college and when out a reversal of spirit is not to be expected.

E. E. C. L. A., Secretary (2, 3), E. E. Society.

In 1910 Joe sailed for the states from Cuba and began to prepare for college. Swarthmore nearly caught him but his mind was fixed and Lehigh won. During his Freshman year Joe started to take French, but this was not musical enough for him so he decided to take violin instead. Those of us who remember as far back as that, will agree in saying that "that was more of an agony than anything else . . . ." but Joe always managed to find his violin no matter no matter where it was hidden.

When with the ladies Joe is always distinguished as a good dancer and entertainer, and with the rest of the world, Joe is known as a good friend, so let us drink a toast and wish him as many friends and success in Cuba as he has in North America. Here is to Joe:

In September, 1913, Pard entered college with the rest of us. We will the light thoughts found it difficult to fathom this "long drink of water" fresh from New York State. But we soon found the old adage Still water runs deep to be nearly true. One historian soon showed his ability. At the end of his Sophomore year he changed his course from Mining Engineering to that of Civil Engineering and suffered no loss of time. We know that he will make good because he has done so in everything he has tried during his college career. He is always up to his studies and at the same time best able to converse on current events. His favorite topic is the Army and we feel sure that if given a chance he would have licked the Germans long ago. Pard is best liked by those who know him best. What better could one say?

"Piker," "Verny."

E. E. Glee Club (1,2,4), President, Cheltenham H. S. Club (4), E. E. Society.

The picture on this page is liable to be rather misleading, for it seems to indicate the proud possessor of a moustache, raised and trained with much care. However, sad to relate, this young lad removed this obstruction from his upper lip immediately after his picture was taken. The committee is in no wise responsible for the apparent deception. Its members struggled in vain to bend the will of this non-Bender. Several reasons are suggested for Verny committing such a rash act. Some say that it interfered with his singing, for he is one of the vocal artists of the class. But be not deceived. We have reason to think otherwise, and this is why. This embryo electrician is greatly interested in telephony and all that goes with it. Therefore, naturally it includes the operators. Enough said. As to his education, any man that can finish the E. E. Course in four years, instead of taking the usual five, nothing more need be said.

Nicholas Batista Pons

Niguero, Cuba

"Nick."

M. E. Varsity Football (2,3,4), Varsity Track (3,4), Varsity Wrestling (2,3), Vice President of Class (2), Theta Xi.

Nick came all the way from Cuba to learn how to become an engineer. Some claim that he was brought up on a freighter but he only laughs at that. Pennington gave him preparation enough to enter Lehigh in the fall of '13 and fortunate it was for the Class. He was the main stay in the banner rush, saving the bunch from complete route at the opening of that terrible ordeal. But after passing through the Freshman year as the big man in the class Nick decided to expand in other directions. Then followed his attacks from the front line in football, his fight with Levi Lamb and his air cutting feats with weights. He has the honor of being credited with having more pep than any other man his size in the class. A good-natured, congenial fellow, Nick has made an impression on his classmates for fair play which will be difficult to erase.

They say that college changes a man. We may also say that it applies to this lad, for he wasn't a man when he entered, isn't one now but hopes to be some day. Never in his whole high school career did Fritz flunk a subject, but woe to him when he hit French. It is hard to explain this scholastic drop, but there must surely be a reason. Never being much of an athlete, he has gone out for almost everything that came along, and this accounts for his always being busy, whether working for the Brown and White, or tinkling his banjo for the musical clubs. Then again, while not classed among the fussers, it is claimed that the bright lights of Broadway and Chestnut have carried him from his books many an evening. His worst habit is smiling at everyone he meets, including the opposite sex.

Society, N. J. Club, Associate Editor 1917 Epitome Manager Lacrosse (4), Cyanide, Sword and Crescent, Arcadia, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

There are few days in the coal regions which can be called bright but the brightest of all was July 24, 1894, when Freddy squawked his way into existence. It was really he who put the town of Shenandoah on the map even tho he did cast his lot with the Jerseyites on the banks of the Passaic. Freddy prepared for Lehigh at Kearney H. S., wherever that is. It was here he learned that Lehigh was the only place where one might acquire an extensive knowledge in civil engineering.

Like his old friend, the owl, he enjoys the nights (nough sed). His favorite train leaves Jersey City at 2 A. M., and his favorite fruit is blonde. He says the last car from Allentown is too early and we wonder why.

"Tom," "Melba,"

B. A. Cotillion, Chi Psi.

This almighty Pacifist hails from Crafton, Pa., one of those places that you pass in the night and don't see in the day. How different Melba is now than when he first arrived in college. How much better educated he is now—in the ways of the world. He attracts women. This is attributed to the wonderful magnetism of his good looks. Melba's favorite indoor sport is killing every new sheet of music by shaking it into rags. Tom is noted for his brain; he uses it to forget things. Peace at any price is his motto to the disgust and dissatisfaction of those about him.

Another one of those men who believes that every engineer needs a liberal education, Tom has first proceeded to become learned in the arts by taking the B. A. Course. But sooner or later he'll be rooting around in the bowels of the earth seeking for treasures which eye hath not seen.

Object:—The object of this experiment is to tabulate the whys and wherefores of the above gentleman.

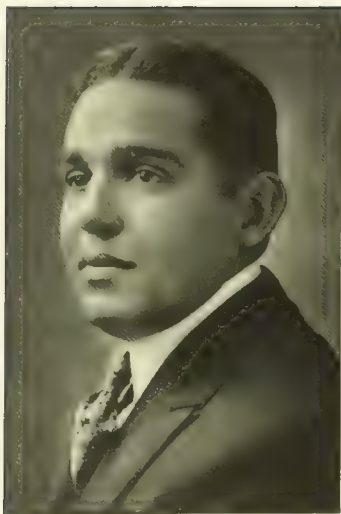

Theory:—From the equation, Randolph equals Ability, it is evident that Randolph equals Popularity plus work plus a Southern Accent.

Method:—From the land of Cotton, Corn and Sweet Potatoes he wandered north and somehow or other arrived in Bethlehem. Here he became friendly with Pop Klein and incidentally took the M. E. Course, or better took the course incidentally. At the end of his Junior year he decided that he had written enough lab. reports and the faculty agreed with him, so he unceremoniously left us.

Conclusions:—This experiment shows that Randy will finish among the leaders on the home stretch and we sincerely wish him every success.

"Rap."

B. A. Junior Oratorical Contest, Class Football (2), Arts and Science, President Deutscher Verein (4), Pi Lambda Phi.

The Lehigh Valley Transit Company has deprived many an eight o'clock class of its best argument. When Rap takes his place in the class room whether the lesson has been prepared or not he is always ready to discuss the more intricate relations existing between the viewpoint of the professor and his own—for he usually disagrees with the hypothesis. He hails from Allentown but wants it to be understood that he is not a native of that city. No, he has been known to put into writing some terrible things about that town but when written in the vernacular it is not of interest to the average person resident outside of the Berks-Lehigh District. Rap will be a lawyer or psychologist and next year Harvard expects to care for him. He may be inflicting a punishment upon that University but 'twill depend largely upon the spirit of the place. It's the spirit of the thing that counts.

"Chuck," "Slim."

E. E. Calculus Cremation, Varsity Soccer (3,4), E. E. Society, Theta Delta Psi.

By virtue of his six feet, two and a half inches, Slim, upon his arrival here from Central High School, Philadelphia, was immediately given a position in the front row in the Banner Rush, whereupon he received such a reception as to make him wish he had remained in God's Country. However, he soon became an enthusiast in everything Lehigh, and, during the past two years has given vent to this enthusiasm by keeping the Soccer goal chuck full of his shapely form.

Slim's ability to sleep peacefully to the tune of Esty's gentle line has enabled him to pass the time away during the past year. His happy-go-lucky ways have earned him many a friend in college and we can predict nothing but a successful career for him. This may be interpreted in several different ways but the one which is meant is, that he will start something and send it through to a successful finish come what—come may.

"Mike."

M. E. Wrestling Squad (2,3,4), Luzerne County Club, M. E. Society.

Mike, a true product of the Anthracite Coal Regions, got his first peep at the combustible on Nov. 14, 1894. For seven teen long years "Mike" dwelt amongst the coal fields but finally decided to move to Mr. Lehigh's University so as to get an insight into the working value of carbon.

After taking it easy for two years he and Mr. Typhus Bacilli took a seven weeks' rest cure at St. Luke's Gym. Dis satisfied with this he again returned to the realm of Dean Klein and waited for his release papers.

Tommy Edison has nothing on this inventive genius who has already patented a gasoline engine which can be run on kerosene; an aerial gas indicator and an eccentric motor car wheel. Whether or not Mike is going to continue with his inven tive tendencies is not known. Surely a great future faces this sturdy coal wrestler.

Pete opened his eyes one bright morn ing, now fully twenty-one years ago, and saw himself a full grown man. But it seems that the dream did not come true for this Bethlehem lad has the honor of being the shortest and lightest man in his class, which means that he carries less and at a faster clip than any of his classmates. To learn some of the practi cal things in life he spent one year in the Bethlehem Steel and confesses that the world is not the proverbial cold place, but rather, quite warm. He has played on the soccer team, defying opponents to mistake him for the ball. His athletic aspirations did not stop here for he went into the game of wrestling to make a name for himself as a Brown and White grappler but injury stepped in and prevented him from becoming too dangerous an op ponent. A good fellow this little elec trical has won his way into the good will of a large number of his classmates.

Al began his career on the banks of the Susquehanna but later, and we don't blame him, moved to Pottsville. He developed a coal mine, all his own, in his back yard and there formed his propensity for mining. He did not specialize until his Sophomore year at Lehigh, when under Keady he found himself at football. He was as Tom said, "the best tackle for his weight that he had ever seen." Al, even to the ladies, is one of these all around men, interesting himself in all kinds of college activities. If he did not flunk a course he was sure to pass it well, mostly the latter in the last two years. We do not have to wish Al success, we concede it to him.

"Wit." "Ridgw." "Rube."

C. E. Band (1,2,4), President (4), N. J. Club (3,4), C. E. Society.

This Rube got his start in Atlantic City back in '93. Yes, 'them was the days when the panic was on' but he survived. From early childhood he showed marked precocity and an ability to pick up odd bits of information. His brain came to a relatively high state of majurity in the A. C. H. S., but his real education was snatched up at the Boardwalk and Piers until he became the official directory for cafes, etc.

At Lehigh his career has been checked and starred in places by brilliant achievements. As a Freshman Ridgy was a combination student and never home but from that time the latter has taken a lead. Chief among his indoor sports are baths, sleep, and taking part in discussions, with an extensive line of invective. He makes a good band president and bass drummer though if someone would only beat him he might wake up and use his latent talent. Here's hoping that will happen soon. But 'tis assured that he'd only mumble,

"Ted," "Robby," "Emom."

E. M. Mining and Geological Society, Football Squad (3), Varsity Football, Psi Upsilon.

Robby first saw light in February, 1894, and has continued in this blessed state with the exception of a few dark moments spent in the Math. Department. After graduating from Harvard in 1915 he decided that his education would be incomplete without a degree from Lehigh. Then in the fall of 1915 he set sail for South Bethlehem on the good ship Rock and Rye, but on arriving in Bethlehem he found the going consisted mostly of rocks in the shape of Calculus and Met. problems. This has caused him to wonder, at times, whether his preparation was thorough enough. However, he hopes to get the decision over Thorny in June and trot away with that E. M. though this time it will be at the other end of his name. He thinks there is too little seriousness in training for athletic teams and believes that that is the thing most in need of reform at Lehigh.

Arnold Rosenstein was born July 1st, 1889, in Lubomna, Wolhyn, Poland. His education was begun with true European thoroughness, being a graduate of the High School in Lodz, the High Technical School in Warsaw, and the High Technical School in Petrograd. He has traveled extensively and has visited most of Europe. Because of his ability to master languages, he held positions in England as Russian, Polish and German correspondent. He came to this country July 3, 1912, and worked for nearly a year at the Bethlehem Steel Co. before entering Lehigh. Rosy has a pleasant disposition, and is well liked and respected by all his friends. Of all the men in Lehigh, he enjoys the distinction of being the best friend that Clarence ever had. As an amateur Mealeyite, he is trying his best to qualify as a professional.

"Dutch," "Tug,"

Bus. Adm.

On a cold December evening in the year 1895, a lone, brilliant star hovered over the hills of Mauch Chunk. "What omen is this?" pondered the police force as he paced his solitary round. The heavenly body blinked once, twice, thrice. "Little Iry" had opened his peepers and emitted his first yell. Thus auspiciously Dutch began his career, and so has it continued.

His conquests have been phenomenal; the fairest of Mauch Chunk are at his feet. Only once has he encountered failure. That was when he came to Lehigh and tried to outdo his course Professor in Mexican athletics. The result was like unto the conquest of the windmill by Quixote. However, he has a businesslike brain and a friendly smile which convinces us that his star will not long bow to that of another, but will again be in the ascendant and shine as brightly as it did on that memorable eve.

C. E. Tau Beta Pi, Willbur German Prize (1), N. J. Club, C. E. Society, Treasurer (3), President (4).

Down at Atlantic City, back in the days of '93, there came into this world one Lewis Babcock Ryon. After being graduated from A. C. H. S. and attending a year at Drexel Institute, he entered Lehigh as "A Electrical." He very fortunately found that prospects here were very poor and soon moved to the "House of McKibben." After meeting all the girls within a radius of 25 miles of South Bethlehem, Louie finally entered into that retreat of last resort—marriage. Since then he has attended strictly to business which certainly seems to indicate that he will do the world justice by imparting to it his knowledge in a way that will be valuable. But here there is a slight inconsistency on his ballot and that is the assertion that he never kissed. But Louie ought to know.

"Savvy," "Sol,"

C. E. Pi Lambda Phi.

With this sign in one hand and Lotta Nerva in the other, Sol trotted from that famous city of Coal Miners. Scranton had given forth many an Eighth Wonder to the world, but this youngster was to sally forth and find his place among our Mae's tribe. Firm and contrite in spirit, lofty in his aspirations, and sincere in his undertakings, this youngster defied time and again the efforts of those learned men—his professors.

As a student of human nature, he was correctly named after that great man of wisdom and he was always ready to lend his beautiful, charming and sonorous tenor voice for the forbearance of his friends. Lab reports never got the best of him as he was a constant user of the midnight oil and frequently enjoyed the absent-dinner-treatment.

Yes, he did leave us for a short time to go out into the world and seek what it had to offer in the way of education for aspiring youth.

"Smooty," "Pop,"

E. M. Lacrosse Squad (2), Football Squad (2,3).

This descendant of Germany first cried for his bottle on August 28, 1894, in the City of New York. One prep school was not enough to furnish knowledge to this young man so he prepared for Lehigh at Bushwick High School, Manual Training High School and Pratt Institute, all located in Brooklyn. He traveled to the Fatherland on several occasions and we expected him to bring back the Kaiser's favorite Dachshund but instead, a Scotch Collie obeys his beck and call.

This youth has loved and won and at any moment may embark on the sea of matrimony. He keeps his whereabouts to himself but nevertheless we have tracked him by a beaten path he has made between Taylor Hall and "somewhere in West Bethlehem," this proving that Freddie bids fair claim to the class cup.

William Chisholm Schulz

"Bill."

Met. Varsity Lacrosse (2), Soccer Team, Phi Gamma Delta.

Bill is not exactly what we might call local talent, notwithstanding the fact that he has called Bethlehem home for about seven years now. He was born in Cleveland, now the sixth city of the country, and is surprisingly proud of it. He did not stray from the folds until he heard of the little town of Bethlehem, and finally he was not able to stand the yearning for the greater knowledge any longer and so it came to pass that he became a local satellite about that time. Since then he has been following the vanguard in his search for knowledge and he has found it so hard to find that he is thinking of taking an extra year to get his degree. But in his searchings he has learned one thing and that is to run. This is ably demonstrated in the prowess he shows at soccer and lacrosse. We believe that he would have shown a great deal more if the faculty had been a little more lenient.

John Bieber Schwoyer

Kutztown, Pa.

"John," "Bieber."

Ch. E. Chemical Society.

John came to Lehigh in the fall of 1913 after successfully weathering the Kutztown Normal School. Pretty much of a farmer when he arrived he has after four years shown that he was made of sterling qualities and that convention is a thing which may be acquired with but a little effort. Though the hayseed cropped out all about his appearance he from the start showed a genuine interest and conscientiousness in his work which has carried him over the seas of trial with plenty of motive power. Choosing as a specialty, color photography, Bieber has been making long strides, which by the way are only characteristic of his long walks, toward the goal which is a full satisfaction of his thirst for knowledge. With his unlimited amount of good nature, a natural, courteous, and gentlemanly manners towards all, a deep respect for Lehigh and all he has derived from his four years of college, he is certain to be a credit to his Alma Mater and one of her loyal alumni.

Carroll, better known as Johnny, is a native of Baltimore, though despite this handicap he has made the dust fly a little while in our midst. Consensus of opinion has it that he entered under handicap now overcome. A shark in electrical subjects he secretly plans and dopes out inventions which will put the present leaders in the electrical world on the bench. Aside from electrical energy he is known for his nervous energy which is usually called pep and argumentative talent. Never satisfied with clearly stating his case he clinches the argument with the statement of some noted authority other than himself. If ambition and his seriousness of purpose are milestones in the path of success then Johnny has covered two of them and sets out to pass the remainder.

Bright and early one September morn. there arrived in our midst one of B. P. I.'s shining lights. Strangely, though, this one was different—he consented to let his light burn dimly—at first—thus fooling the older heads into believing that he really was from some place other than Balto Poly. Slow has been a plugger and in spite of the fact that he is handicapped with theatrical ambitions, he has mastered the gentle art of Met. Probs. Allentown seems to have lost its charms for this virtuous youth and even though Mealey's is still in full blast, Hal will spend his evenings in slinging the Bull. This follower of Skipper is going out to make a name for himself and we all wish him luck.

After completing a high school course in Pittsburgh Central, he cross-countryed to the Colorado School of Mines in quest of knowledge. Here Norman joined the Y. M. C. A. and on the side acquired the "Give'm Hell Mines" spirit which still crops out in his work about college and on the cinder path.

Two years at mines brought him to his senses and like other prodigals he asserted himself and decided to take a Dutch cut to Lehigh and Soused Bethlehem and it is here we find him, firmly believing that the prevailing accent is only a necessary evil.

When not working Met problems or discussing the vapor tension of zinc, he takes great delight in things terpsichorean and if you should ask Norman, "Who's who in America," he would probably reply, "Plug" Richards and Vernon Castle, or say,

"I'll ask Roush."

"Cap," "Austy," "AL."

Bus. Adm. Captain Football (3), Varsity Football (1,2,3,4), Varsity Lacrosse (3), Arcadia (3), Junior Banquet Committee, Baseball Squad (1), Beta Theta Pi.

Under the very shadow of the Bunker Hill on which our forefathers fought to free a people, was born on Valentine Day, 1893, this husky Yank. He claims that it was on the good ship Mayflower with its seven pianos, but the doubt of this will not be expressed. However, to be linked more closely with New England and her traditions he studied in the public schools of Boston finally preparing for Lehigh in the Boston Latin School.

Entering Asa Packer's retreat a little in advance of the larger forces Austy has been able to be of much assistance in pointing out the dangers that haunt the way. Too much study is a dangerous thing and when he says it, all agree. But then after these few strenuous years he approaches graduation a worn out, tired student.

"Babe."

Bus. Adm. Arcadia (4), Varsity Baseball (1,2,3), Captain Baseball (4), Class Baseball (1), Variety Show (3), Sword and Crescent, Delta Upsilon.

When Babe and Sam, his partner, landed in South Bethlehem, it was a happy day in Lehigh's baseball history. At times he has tired of knocking the ball over the fence, finding that pastime a little monotonous then to fix his eye upon a knot hole in the fence with the intention of closing it to the policeman whose duty it is to keep the younger generation from tearing down a wooden wall. Once his goal is set his will knows no turning. Hence into the knot hole goes the sphere.

When off the field he plays the game as hard as when in togs. The stock market must be watched, the bank statement checked, but there is always time to discuss the psychology of anything from gnats to religion or even grow enthusiastic over a presidential election. Now and then he spends a social hour somewhere.

"Hal." "Steinmetz."

E. E. E. Society.

Hal was born and raised in this city and never had that thrill that other men realize on returning home at vacation time. He prepared for Lehigh at Bethlehem High School and is studying electrical phenomena. Due to his activities in regard to the above he has been named Steinmetz. In order to secure a better claim to the name Hal bought a little black pipe that never stops emitting deadly odors. He is so accustomed to laboratory reports that he filled out his class ballot in that form but he omitted the two most important parts, namely, the tabulated results and the conclusion. He even got some one else to make a sketch of the apparatus. Steinmetz is a good sport and we all wish him success, even more than the name would indicate. With his sociable disposition and the interest which he shows in his work, he surely ought to make good. Naturally through life's journey he must always find himself handicapped by the town of his birth, for—can such as this come out of South Bethlehem?

"Skip."

C. E. Class Baseball (1), C. E. Society, Theta Delta Psi.

Harold Payne Vreeland was born in the quiet little town of Butler, N. J., on April 4, 1895. Skip's early years were spent in preparing for his college course, and the little lamb succeeded in attaining to the station of a Frosh in the year of Our Lord, 1913, when he entered Lehigh University.

His sleeping propensities are exceeded only by the individuality of his liquid snore; Skip's snore is a heart-rending, clock-mangling combination of a rip-saw screech and a moist wheezy whistle, terminated by a sort of disgusted grunt.

Harold P.'s versatility may best be shown by the way in which he divided his time at L. U. By far the greater part was devoted to sleeping, while the remaining small portion was divided 50-50 between business and pleasure, namely, between the C. E. course and life in the surrounding towns, viz: Allentown, Cata-sauqua, P-burg, Easton and vicinity. As a vision of the future one sees Skip a worthy father.

From one spot on this green footstool to another this shining light has wandered until he may say with a sentiment that is genuine that he knows not where to place his head. Born in the capital city of the sweetest, purest, and holiest state in the Union, he soon moved to Pittstown, though, as he claims, that later while preparing for Economics Lectures moved he to Porto Rico but came back and prepared for Lehigh at Reading High.

Yes, he is German but does not deceive his pride in that fact. Like all of the people of this blood he has a big ambition and then he'll surely carry it through though it happens to be to build a church on the model of Coppee Hall on the Island of Porto Rico. Last of our friends to have survived four years on the "Episcopalian Limited" Spritz shows no results of its influence for still he is a kid and hates to be serious.

Robison Fox Walter

"Bob." "Hooks."

Ch. E. Kappa Sigma.

Who's calling? Robison Fox Walter—oh yes, he was born in Lebanon, just twenty-one years ago, and he has been the pampered child ever since. Being a good student he successfully completed the prescribed course in the Lebanon High School and straightway decided to embark on the bitter sea of life and try his luck at Lehigh. Little did Lebanon realize what it was missing when "Bob" pitched his tent in the valley of the Lehigh.

Here Bob has made a decided hit as a—read carefully—as a fusser. But some bright day some poor deserving young lady will find that she is no longer needed at the switchboard.

Hooks ought to make a good engineer, they will never be able to resist him when they see that cane. An engineer and a gentleman will then be the title to be prefixed or affixed to his name and in either case we expect to hear of this chemical engineer figuring in the news—some time.

"No kiddin, is the line still busy?"

Jesse Faust Wentz

Spring Grove, Pa.

"Jess."

E. E. Secretary of E. E. Society (4), York Country Club, Mustard and Cheese Chorus (3).

Wentz was born in the land of paper mills but like the majority of the people in this world he dearly decided to forsake the occupation of his forefathers and is pursuing a course in electricity. During his first year, Jess was rather quiet except for his violin which kept everybody awake at night and woke them in the morning. Then about the time the fellows began to appreciate his musical talent, "Jess" fell for dancing and appeared on the stage. He certainly picked the correct profession for his temperament. He likes to take a chance and throws in every switch he finds to see what will happen and he always finds out without getting into trouble. This gentleman comes to his conclusions rapidly for he always knows that he has the dope, thus he does not waste time putting it together logically. But he took a course in Philosophy and that may be the reason.

"Oh, Paul, we just knew you would come and play the piano. Why how do you suppose we could get along without you? Oh! we're so glad? Now, won't you play for us?" And seating himself on the bench he began to play the story of his life and wild and wonderful it was. Down the cheeks of those who listened ran tears now of joy and now sorrow, for into the interpretation he put real feeling. From Bangor High he told them he had been graduated and then from Blair Academy where—Oh, the joy, he had taken honors in Math. But then the crisis when he entered Lehigh and took the Math. Course under Thorny. And the joy melted and a feeling of sympathy swept over the listeners for the Princess was not triumphant. Trips to Philadelphia and New York with the terrible purpose of extending meal tickets shot arrows of surprise into those who strained their ears to lose no thought.

Little did the inhabitants of Buffalo realize that on March 1, 1894, there appeared on the horizon one who might be numbered among the future greats of this town. At an early age he expressed a desire to see different sights than those in his old home town, so he packed up and went to the Mackenzie School. After a period of two years he became tired of this and returned home to attend Lafayette High School for another two years. But there were greater things in store for Weary. Seeing an opening on the Lehigh Musical Clubs for a fifth string man he entered Bethlehem Prep. and after staying one year he matriculated where you now see him. He has certainly taken advantage of the opportunities afforded in the Lehigh Valley for a liberal education and has absorbed considerable wisdom from Baldy's lectures.

"Willy."

M. E.

Willy had received his education previous to his coming to Lehigh as one would say, piecemeal, getting some here and there wherever his parents took him. He was graduated from Huntington High, a school of great repute on Long Island, in the year of '13, however not such ill luck as it may appear. It was nearly college time of the same year when the idea entered his brain that he would like to continue his studies to a degree of M. E. and for that purpose he choose Lehigh. So it has been here that Willy, a title given him by his classmates, has spent four quiet and unmolested years among his fellows, trying to bring them to a higher plane of intelligence. His efforts have met with some results and some appreciation but method at times is a big element in bringing about the results desired and we do not say that Willy lacks it. He might set about to reform the mechanicals but if he succeeded all honor, all glory and all praise he would deserve. If you ask him to explain a problem he'll do it with ease but at any time he may burst forth in this fashion:

"Do or don't you see it; if not, why not?"

Joseph William Winter

Gladwyne, Pa.

"Wint."

M. E. Phi Gamma Delta.

Born in Gladwyne back in '89, this professor began his search for the something called knowledge. In due time he was graduated from the Lower Merion High School, receiving a diploma back in 1907. Entering industry he spent two years in construction work, but only to return to the original desire and then came with its partial satisfaction graduation from Drexel Institute. This was in the year 1912. After four years instructing others how to tackle important problems he landed at Lehigh in quest of an M. E. degree. Though by profession he hopes to be an engineer or will be one, yet by inclination he would rather be steering a motor boat along the coast in search of trouble. Until such an exciting position offers itself he'll be content with the study of boat design. Now boat design in view of the U-boat terror should be an important question and if Wint so desires he may be sent to Washington to testify that Lehigh is in favor of universal U-boat training provided he designs the boat and may try out the machines in the Canal. Give him a chance.

"Bill."

Bus. Adm. President of Combined Musical Clubs (4), Junior Prom. Committee, Senior Banquet Committee, Cotillion, Mandolin Club (2,3,4), Chi Psi.

From Newark he comes and of that fact he is certainly ashamed. Though it is not the idea to rub it in, the fact can not be overlooked, besides he has good qualities which go a long way toward overcoming the handicap. His ability at the piano has made him a real asset to the Musical Clubs. This with the sixth sense—humor—have been sufficient reasons why his associates have congratulated themselves that he was induced to flee from Stevens Tech to the breezy crest of Old South Mountain.

He hopes that the war will not be terminated by an unsecure peace, and if it does he wants it to reopen at once, for during the summer he would like to drive an ambulance somewhere in France. We would be glad to have him serve humanity but we don't want him to miss those reunions.

"Berk."

C. E. C. E. Society, Chief of Section E (4), Senators Club.

Ah! There you are! The last of a long line to enter Lehigh. But unlike most of those who have gone before he was unable to obtain a sufficient supply of knowledge in Goshen, Mass., so he prevailed upon his family to remove to the nation's Capital. Here Berk attended the Central High School and delved into the mysteries of mathematics and politics. Retiring from strenuous life he took up his abode in Kensington, Md., from which berg he migrated to Lehigh. Packer Hall has been groaning ever since over his struggles and his triumphs, but Boilers and Met. Problems notwithstanding, he expects to get his dip in the distant future.

Berk early enrolled in the Allentown night school course supplementing it with shorter studies at B. D. A. and the Colosseum. He does not profess to be a good dancer, though that may be due to modesty.

"There you are."

"Bill," "Bad Bill,"

El. Met. Cotillion, Scimitar, Calculas
Cremation, Cheer leader, Chi Psi.

"Wild Bill" was one of the many metallurgists who started and expects to be one of the few to respond to the final call. Bill comes from Newark and, having lived in the city of the Balbach's so long, he decided to come to Lehigh and study Met. He has met with success, though the call of Allentown and the association with a "Professor" in that town have had much influence over his division of time. He has never taken his first cut at Mealey's. Lectures on other subjects may go unnoticed though the call to Allentown is never unanswered.

He dreams he sleeps he meditates—transferring himself from one state of mind to another with ease, because of these tendencies. Now he is leading cheers but with the twinkle of an eye he is dopping out a met. problem while associates think he dreams. For chief among his diversions are Advanced Chemistry and Met. Problems.

"Never again."

John Uriah Zimmerman

Allentown, Pa.

"Zim," "Heine," "Johnny,"

C. E.

With a name like that no one has any doubt in the world as to where Johnny originated. Twenty-five years ago, the cock crowed and the birth of Zim was heralded through the city a short distance up the Lehigh.

After gaining all the knowledge possible in the native schools he immigrated to Bethlehem Prep. and there proceeded to supply himself with the necessary equipment for Lehigh. He sought the seclusion of Packer Hall largely because it was a bit nearer than any other building for his purposes. But it would be unfair to state that he had no other purpose for he does desire to become a front ranker and thought that the best way and feels he has found it.

Though his name betrays any secrecy as to his origin yet when viewed from afar no one would suspect that this gentleman ever lived and ruled in the city of "Prosperity."

Beyond the Great Divide.

I sing the hymn of the conquered, who fell in the Battle of Life,
The hymn of the wounded, the beaten, who died overwhelmed in the strife,
The hymn of the low and the humble, the weary, the broken in heart,
Who strove and who failed, acting bravely a silent and desperate part.

Opinions.

THE SURVEY.

A day's work is done when the lives and activities of these men have been collected and compiled in some sort of order. But back into the swivel chairs climb the editors to complete the task before them. The thread of connection is strong for the bond of friendship does not weaken when labor is its demand. To sift the opinions of their classmates was the committee's duty and out they threw many of the expressions of thoughtlessness or displeasure. It was a long process but when the morning dawned hope glimmered from beneath the heap of material for the fight had been won. Three men regarded many of the questions as foolish, and time wasted, thus affording an easy means of escape for those who must edit the same.

A careful reading soon brought forth the fact that there was nothing new under the sun and that Lehigh tradition had apparently fixed itself quite firmly upon the minds of the seniors. On many questions the opinion approached the unanimous.

A MYSTERIOUS STRANGER.

The class as a whole would not be so proud or is too modest to admit that it has been so righteous as to attend chapel exercises. From the general impression it would appear that this building for its architectural beauties alone should so command our admiration that to enter it would be to deprive it of that beauty by tacitly expressing a lack of respect.

However, the similar disinterestedness or "ignorance" of the Y. M. C. A. appears to throw upon the matter a different query, for it is viewed with alarm as a thing which might be but has been "Fried."

To a man, though, there were exceptions, they thought that the honor system was ineffective and with Cook and Derr would either abolish it as a Lehigh institution or make it a force to be reckoned with by all classmen. Robinson expressed the belief that "there could be no honor where none existed," thus offering slight hope for a successful operation.

The questions of "vital" importance brought out less of a unanimity of opinion with some original expressions which it is now a pleasure to give to the entire universe and make it a better, holier and nobler place to live in. These may be the first big contributions of our class to the study of the science of human nature or it may not suffice it to say that throughout the observation seemed to be accurate and the conclusions as drawn were of interest, so here goes—

THE STAGS DELIGHT.

That was Frobisher's opinion of the college dance, though Brenton believes it has good points since it is something for B. Thorpe to write home about. There are different views and here comes G. B. Walter claiming that it is a fine chance for the fraternities to stick together. Robinson, who is a little more optimistic, calls them "a very good institution," and we are inclined to think that he has struck the truest note.

TOO MANY CHEAP CIGARS

"And not enough education" says Ayrault of the engineering societies, while Porter sees some good in them for they provide monthly news for the Brown and White which he considers a purpose worthy of mention. Brenton voices the undertow of opinion when he calls them the Last Hope in college honors. There are expressions of disgust with the fact that too many speeches and papers are not prepared by students but by outsiders. A greater cooperation of the student with the society is regarded as essential to a more satisfactory and successful working.

HE PLAYED AGAINST YALE AT 17.

And that entitles "Capt." Crichton to his claim to distinction and indicates that he did get the jump on at least one Yale man and feels that he can do it to many more. Butterworth believes his greatest achievement will be to be graduated before his eldest son. Anderson wants it known that during his stay in the Bethlehems he has remained a virgin and calls it an achievement not to be frowned upon. But along comes R. F. Walters and tells us that by attending two Met. lectures in succession he has made a mark in the history of Lehigh scholarship which will not be forgotten for many a day.

HOW DEAR TO MY HEART

And when Jacobson can say that the way Dr. Drinker does his ambition will pass from the hoped for to the then present. When Crichton makes Richard Harding Davis look like the writer of the Alger stories he'll be satisfied. Buxton has a desire to love work and it is an outstanding ambition only because he fears that never will he have a chance to work. To bet even money against Lafayette with one of her loyal sons is what Nichols would do and then see another string of four out of five victories, but Dawson wants to be a bachelor, live in a Club on 5th Ave., and watch the chickens go by.

AN ANGEL

After himself Benacoter would be an angel but Glen Walters again presents a more satisfactory reply when he says "My wife if she were I." Custer would emulate the President when he mentions his name and then says the reason is because he likes "to pull other peoples legs." One would like to be Solomon with his master's degree, "W. W. W.," which is to be interpreted to mean "Wealth—Wisdom—Wives." Charley Taylor has a friend who would like to be the donor of a new stadium because there is more pleasure in giving than in receiving.

I WOULD PENSION SOME FRIENDS IN BETHLEHEM

Replied Breen when he was asked what he would do if he were rich enough. Portz has a better opinion of the faculty for he would spend a portion of his surplus cash and buy Thorny a cigar. Then comes McCann who would graduate and Leoser, who dislikes the high cost of living and would buy a dozen of eggs to help bring the price down or send it up. Bach and Rosenstein come nearer to the real situation when one says he'd do nothing while the other gives a synonym, "I wouldn't do a thing." Robinson's opinion is less selfish when he says that he'd "help the poor to raise themselves out of present conditions."

PARENTS IRON HAND

And that is why Weary came to Lehigh but since he arrived the control has been less determined. Homewood says he left his lucrative position in Maryland to broaden his views and acquire knowledge, which is by all odds the most serious reply given to this question.

WITH MY LIPS IN THE DARK

Is the way that Conrad kissed the first girl. But throughout there seems to have been a misinterpretation of the question for some thought that Eve was the first girl and that she was the individual to which the question referred. Conceiving the impossibility of such a meaning the large majority of the men in the class took the proper view and furnished valuable personal information. It is conceded that of the questions this was by far the most personal and for that reason, and not to violate a confidence, many of the replies were discarded. Brenton says he did it through the slats of his cradle and gets the powder puff due to his early start. G. B. Walters closed his eyes while Mac-Isaac like Adam blamed it on to the lady. Dynan found it a simple matter for he replied "easily," but Bach waited until the shades of night had covered the earth and about the same time Pardee "waylaid her in a dark alley." LaCombe replied "Passionately," and Winter said "with many tremors." Vogel thought for some time and then in an effort to be poetic or a plagiarist he said "Lip to lip without a slip." Ayrault like Ryon, who expressed a similar sentiment, said, "I am un-kissed, or rather have not kissed a girl." Dawson hung from the chandelier by his knees and caught her as she went under.

THE HOLY CITY

Is the term applied by Brobst to Allentown but Frobisher, who is also a Y. M. C. A. "enthusiast," calls it the Garden of Eden, but maybe because he has never seen the Garden. Appel calls it a place where you can always get what you go after; in other words an enterprising commercial center. It is a good place to go and to get away from thinks Vogel but Drinker warns his classmates to stay away and thus avoid the trials and temptations. For its size it is rather warm asserts Ridgway who has spent most of his time in and about Atlantic City, hence he ought to know, but Ayrault took a radical position saying that it had more speed than common sense. Conrad, who comes from another city with a high sense of civic pride and patriotism, turns to its people and will only speak in initial letters saying W. P. O. E. The warning to their classmates to beware was sounded by several, especially Fehnel and Schwoyer, the former attributing to it the downfall of many fine fellows and the latter saying it increases the number of flunk outs. Robinson falls in line saying that it leads a fellow astray and then calls it a path for psychology. In its relation to Lehigh Cook says it is too close but LaCombe disagrees saying that it is too far from South Bethlehem. Dynan calls it Lehigh's safety valve but he'll have to explain. Hampton thinks of a great evangelist and says that Billy Sunday would be lost.

DESTROY WHAT IDEALS ONE MIGHT HAVE

Of womanhood, says Robinson, as he turns from the town itself to the people who spend most of their time in the Hamilton St. City. Kehrer says that the girls are like the weather, fair and warmer, but Levy claims that they are good as far as they go and they go the limit. Boston and Drinker agree that they are Dutch and ugly but Boston says they are very friendly. Eve is the opinion of Frobisher after he had characterized the town as the Garden of Eden. "Short," says Ridgway, "but friendly." And Dayton asks "I wonder if they'll miss me when I'm gone," but LaCombe, who has gotten into the vernacular says something rather Dutch and then asks "Ain't it so?"

FIGHT LEHIGH FIGHT.

Is the way Howard characterizes the last car or the official retreat from Allentown to So. Bethlehem after a brief visit in the metropolis. Rapoport calls it a cattle pen and Jacobson asks, "Do you mean the Haller special?"

That Faculty Ballot.

The Faculty men appear to possess in a remarkable degree the same characteristics which stood them off from their fellows in previous years. There is Stewart who thinks he is the wisest, is the best Mexican athlete, most conceited; who led the list of blue ribboners. Then comes Thornburg who is the wisest, most unpopular and hardest to bluff. Hughes is the homeliest with Alrich a close contender and likewise the most eccentric. Alrich is easily the humblest, the dumbest and therefore the most deserving of pity. He had clean majorities. Ogburn secured all but three votes for the laziest and they went to his partner Alrich, but Wilson for high vote came next in his permanent position as the windiest. Palmer defeated Toohy by a 6 to 1 vote as the handsomest, J. F. Klein by a 3 to 1 vote over Babasinian was the most considerate. Batterfield was high man as the easiest to bluff, Ullmann was leader over Stewart as biggest bluffer, Eckfeldt led Toohy as the most popular, but Toohy led Beck as the best sport.

There were a number of also rans whose outstanding characteristics were either blurred or not distinct enough to draw majority attention. These have been discarded as in the race for the diploma more than half of each class is passed by as less capable than those who wear the black robe.

And Then In Conclusion.

The privilege to compile this section of the EPILOGUE has been one never to be forgotten experience. The duties have been exacting and its reward will be the silent appreciation of those efforts by our classmates. Some changes have been made and even the divine right of the alphabet has been disturbed.

We trust that if now you regard our product as short of your earnest desires and highest expectations, that in later years when time has whitened your now curly locks or deprived you of that means of adornment you will reflect upon your youthful expression of displeasure, and then as you go to your library and pull down this dust-covered volume you will in communion with recollections of college days find it a true friend and will pass a more favorable judgment upon its merits.

We have tried to edit this section with that end in view and have tried to blot from it everything which would cast a shadow of discredit upon the class.

Faithfully submitted,

D. R. BROBST,
G. M. LEVY,
F. E. PORTZ,
W. A. RICHARDS,
R. L. McCANN
W. W. GILMORE, Chairman.

JUNIOR CLASS

WEBSTER tells us that "a history is a narration of facts and events arranged chronologically with their causes and effects." If this be true, then the following shall not be, strictly speaking, a history of the Class of 1918 for it consists merely of a few sidelights on the deeds of our Class.

The process of evolution from that little, insignificant, green thing, the Freshman, to the staunch and sturdy Junior of today began one night early in the fall of the year nineteen hundred and fourteen when we were made to chase the ever elusive Sophomore thru the Bethlehems. From that time on we were a united band and our common enemies, holding the upper hand, tried to crush us. But in spite of this oppression, the Class during that first year developed from the small, puny pigmy to a thing of strength and might. "Since "Might makes Right," it follows that we in time came to hold the upper hand; we became Sophomores. Just as we had been the oppressed, we now became the oppressors and during the following year succeeded in inspiring in 1919 a wholesome fear and respect for the Class of 1918.

At the beginning of this college year we cast aside the more frivolous things and assumed the responsibilities of upper classmen. Today our representatives are busy in every branch of college activity, excelling both on the athletic field and in the classroom, doing things calculated to reflect glory on our Class and our Alma Mater.

We started weak but we are finishing strong and we are confident that, be it within college walls or beyond them, the Class of Eighteen will be heard from again and still again.

Historian.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

IN the fall of 1915 there entered the University a few hundred young men of the noble class of 1919. We were as other classes rather timid and rather green, but we have proven our metal by remaining practically intact, and but few of our number have fallen by the wayside. Nor have we proven any less successful in our various associations about the University. We feel that we put the same "pep" into college activities as we have shown in our class work.

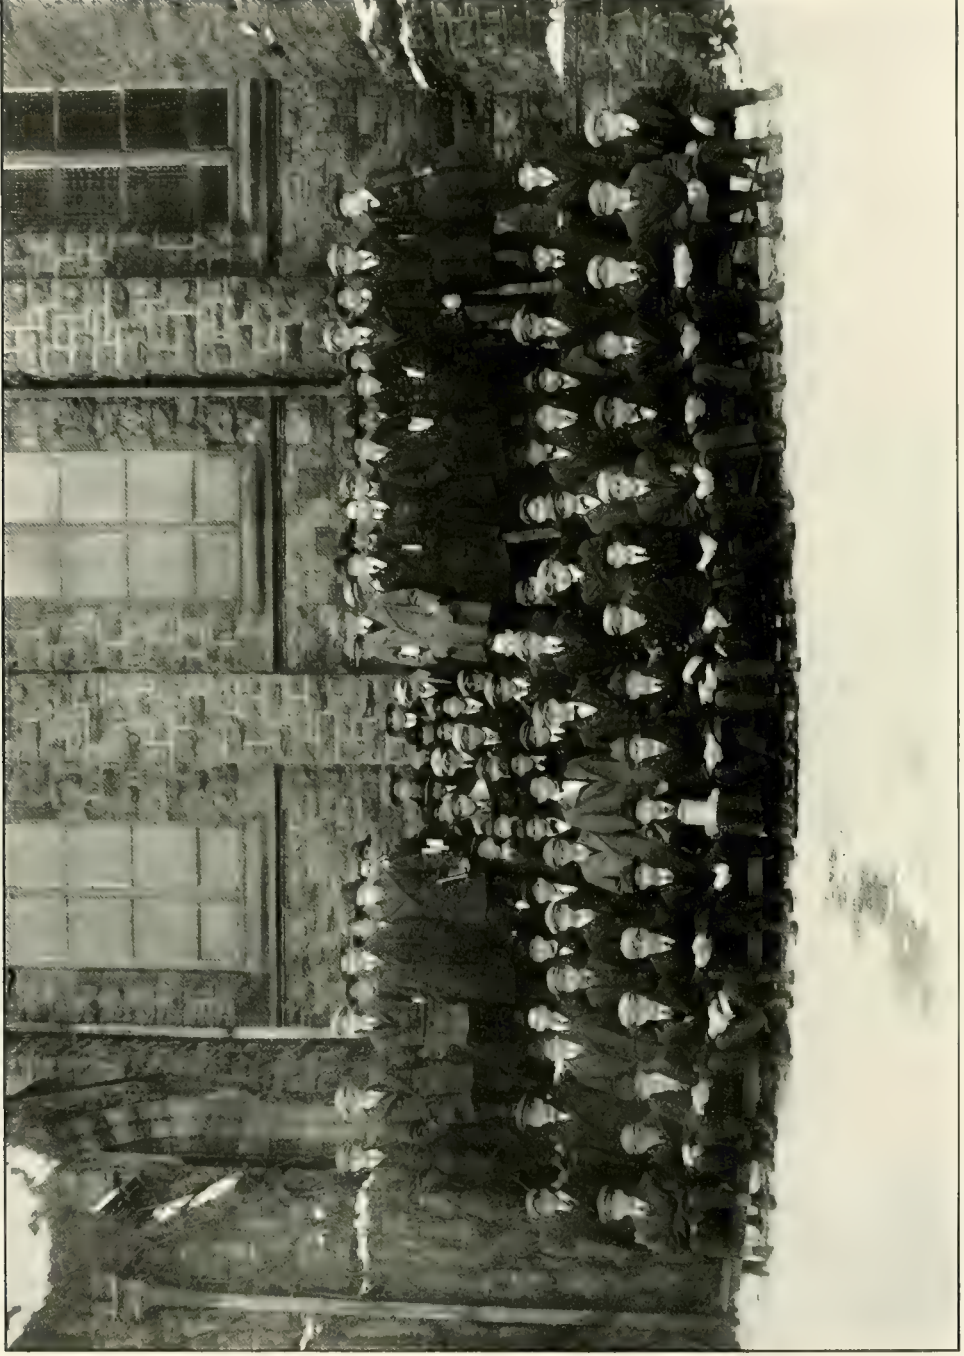

As Freshmen we defeated the Sophomores in the football and baseball games on Founder's Day. We lost the relay, but winning the baseball game decisively gave us the privilege of disregarding the black tie and sock rule for Freshmen. We celebrated with a huge bonfire, into which went all black ties, never again to be worn as signs of freshness by the class of 1919. The outstanding event of the year after this was our class banquet, one of the most successful banquets ever held at Lehigh.

Upon our return to college in October, 1916, we found that the old order of things was reversed, no longer were the Freshmen to be generally hazed, but it devolved on us to initiate them into the proper demeanor as Freshmen. We feel that we have proven worthy of the trust put in us. After the first gathering of the incoming "babes" we treated them to a little demonstration of the fact that they were exceedingly green and fresh. This was staged outside of Packer Chapel. For two weeks after the opening of college we met the new class after every one of their class lectures and gently reminded them that they were very green, and that they would be in our midst quite a while before they could aspire to be Sophomores. They responded to treatment and hostilities soon ceased.

We feel that we have reason to be proud of our class, we have successfully passed two years of our sojourn at Lehigh and our accomplishments lead us to be hopeful of success in the two years to come. Our aim and hope is that the Class of 1919 may always be known as true and loyal sons of Lehigh.

FRESHMAN

ONE afternoon early in October the Class of 1920 gathered for the first time in the Chapel for the usual opening exercises.

After the singing of the Alma Mater and the calling of the class roll, we sauntered out to be greeted by the Sophomores at the door with a little friendly horse play. After this, instead of the usual banner rush, we met them again in a gentle game of baseball. This change of custom we do not attribute to any tender affection felt towards us by the Class of '19, but rather to the treaty of peace signed by them before our arrival. It seems that the Sophs had gotten wind of the "small" class with which they had to deal and so decided it would be best to be a little lenient with us. The game was closely contested but owing to our unorganized condition we were defeated by a small score.

Shortly after the opening of college, the class held its first meeting in the gymnasium, where a temporary president was elected to lead us against the Sophs in the Founder's Day sports. Time flew swiftly and Founder's Day came before we knew it. At last 1920 had its chance to show 1919 that it was not the only class in college. This we did by winning two of the three sports. The relay race and the football game were easily captured while the base-ball game went to the Sophomores, only however after a hard battle. On account of the abolishment of hazing, we were forced to wear our black socks and ties throughout the year, our only recompense for our athletic superiority being the privilege of dispensing with our regulation hats on Sundays.

The Class of 1920 has the distinction of being the largest class in the history of the University, and it would be much to our credit if we could graduate, not only the largest class but also the largest in proportion to the number of men we had to start out with. The class has come through the mid-year house cleaning with flying colors and there is every prospect for a great future.

It is in the future and not in the past that the class must seek its fame. A year has already slipped by and it is hard to tell where it has gone. Our college days, the happiest of our lives, will be over before we realize it, and the characters which we form now will remain with us through life. In everything that we do, be it work or play, let us strive to be honest, honorable and loyal to ourselves and to our Alma Mater.

Historian.

ARCADIA

The honor system was adopted at Lehigh University in May, 1904, and provided that the Arcadia should be the virtual head and governing body of a committee composed of all the students of the University for the faithful observance of the system. In this capacity the Arcadia acts as an impartial jury to give trial to students reported as having violated the honor pledge.

Besides this power it is the duty of the Arcadia to foster worthy and advisable activities which help to promote and uphold the good name of Lehigh University and the welfare of its student body. If necessary, it may enforce this principle by causing the exclusion of men who bring discredit to the University.

The President of the Senior Class is automatically elected to the Arcadia. Twelve men are elected from the following nominations:—Captains and Managers of Football, Baseball, Wrestling, Basketball, Track and Lacrosse; Editors and Business Managers of the Brown and White, the Burr and the Epitome; Presidents of Y. M. C. A. and Mustard and Cheese; Head Cheer Leader, Athletic Representative at Large, Dormitory Chief and six Seniors from the class at large. Besides the twelve men from this list two Juniors from the class at large are elected by the student body.

On May, 1916, four resolutions were adopted by the student body providing for the nomination of at least six men from the Senior Class; the creation of a committee consisting of three members of the Arcadia, three of the Faculty and the President of the University to recommend the sentence of a guilty student to the Faculty; the posting of decisions of the Arcadia on College Bulletin boards and the insertion of the following clause on every ballot used for election of Arcadia members.

“Bear in mind that you are electing these men for their honesty and ability and not because of what they have done for the college.”

The Young Mens Christian Association

Any fair minded individual would see after a short stay at Lehigh that one of the greatest influences for good in the University is the student Y. M. C. A. Its influence is not only carried throughout the students of the University but in many ways to the outside world. Contrary to the general opinion the men who represent the Y. M. C. A. and its work around college are among the biggest men in the college. The majority of the men directing the affairs of the University were interested in Y. M. C. A. work long before they reached their so-called greatness. Every Sunday evening the Y. M. C. A. holds a meeting and listens to short talks from prominent men. Here the members meet all types of successful men and to all intents and purposes it serves as a University extension course.

The Discussion Groups was another method of getting the undergraduate acquainted with men who had been through the "mill" and were qualified to give advice upon the subject. These meetings were held every Wednesday evening throughout the winter in each fraternity and dormitory section and were led by faculty members, ministers, and business men from town.

Lehigh through the influence of the Y. M. C. A. sent a student representation to the Pennsylvania Older Boys' Conference in Pottsville this year. At the Eagles Mere Conference Lehigh was ably represented by the usual large attendance.

As camp leaders students interested in the Y. M. C. A. work spent the summer months at Camp Tohicken, Point Pleasant, and at Camp Pahnema, Wayne. Lehigh was also represented at Camp Kennebec, Maine, last summer.

The employment bureau is controlled by the Y. M. C. A. and every year does a great amount of good in obtaining work for students, both during the college year and in the summer months.

Secretary Frey has lately completed arrangements by which it is possible for a member of the Y. M. C. A. at Lehigh to enjoy the privileges of the Y. M. C. A. buildings in all the large cities of the country.

Perhaps one of the greatest works of the Y. M. C. A. here at Lehigh is the combination "Free Evening School" and "Naturalization Class" held under its direction. Concerning this "The North American Student" has to say the following:

"A remarkable and interesting movement has been started by the Association at Lehigh University, in cooperation with the Bethlehem Steel Company, in the form of free evening schools for coming Americans. Over 1,400 foreigners of 35 different nationalities are enrolled in the different sections, in classes meeting four nights and two afternoons a week. In these classes are found Greeks, Roumanians, Italians, Hungarians, French, Spanish, Portugese, Windish, Lithuanian, Slavish, Chilean, Polish, East Indians, Russians, Prussians, Porto Ricans, Peruvians, Cubans, Letish, Japanese, Finns, Serbians, Germans, Brazilians, Ruthinians, Hebrews, Swiss, Syrians, Bulgarians, Servians, Austrians, Americans, Costa Ricans, and Slavs. Many of these men are in the employ of the Bethlehem Steel Works.

Besides these classes for men, there are a few classes for the foreign women and girls. All these classes are graded and elementary English, arithmetic, geography and history are taught. Citizenship is taught to the most advanced class. A number of questions that are asked in the naturalization examinations are given, and, for the purpose of removing the average foreigner's timidity, an imitation court session is held just previous to the examination, conducted by J. M. Frey, Association Secretary. About thirty-five student members of the Christian Association act as teachers under the direction of the Secretary."

Mustard and Cheese Club, 1916

THE Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Club added a notable success to its long line of commendable productions in presenting as its thirty-second annual production, "The Fascinating Widow." The play is a musical comedy in three acts, written by Otto Hauerbach and is replete with opportunities for clever acting and real comedy which an able cast artistically brought out.

The first presentation was on April 29, 1916, at the Grand Opera House. Numerous requests from students and alumni were instrumental in bringing about a second production on June 3, which was even more finished than the previous show. The sparkling comedy of the play, interspersed with song hits and attractive dances by dainty chorus girls formed an ideal combination which fully deserved the welcome it received.

The play was produced under the direction of Mr. John A. McCollum of Allentown, and the dancing coaching was done by Mr. Wm. G. Wahl, of Muhlenberg College.

Captain W. D. Maginnes

CAPTAIN MAGINNES had the honor of leading a Lehigh team that defeated Lafayette. Every man on the team unites to express the thought that "Mac" fully deserves the honor that fell to his lot. As a hard working, hard fighting leader "Mac's" peer cannot be found. "Mac" played at fullback and altho very light for the position made a remarkably creditable record. He was among the leading scorers in the country and was mentioned as an All-American possibility by Walter Camp.

"Mac" was a marvel in the offense. With that wonderful drive of his he was always sure of three yards thru tackle. In the open field he was equally as good. On the defense he was on his toes every minute. Upon one occasion he caught a man who had an open field to the goal, after a splendid display of speed.

Captain Maginnes is a Junior and we expect him to do great things on the gridiron during his Senior year.

The schedule which "Bachy" arranged developed into an ideal one. The games were just right to enable the coaches to "prime" the team for the decisive contests. As a manager he was always on the lookout for the welfare of each member of the largest and most persevering squad in Lehigh's history. The visiting teams were always more than satisfied with the treatment received at his hands and expressed their sentiments on many occasions.

Managerial duties are not easy but with rare tact and good judgment Manager Bach brought the season to a successful close both from an athletic and a financial viewpoint. Perhaps no better compliment can be paid him than is conveyed in the above sentence.

Manager A. Bach

W. T. HALSTED.

Misfortune has followed "Ty" thru this year of football. A "charleyhorse," a weak ankle, and other injuries kept him out of the game for a greater part of the season. By careful attention he was in shape for the Lafayette game.

In the games in which he participated he fully realized the expectations of the fans by playing very good football.

"Ty" is Captain-Elect and under his leadership the team expects a successful season for next year.

W. A. RICHARDS

"Al" Richards deserves a great amount of credit for the football career he so successfully terminated this year. For four years he has been on the squad and for three he has been a member of the 'Varsity. Despite a handicap in weight he has always been distinguished for his excellent work. No man has shown greater devotion to the welfare of the team or has been so faithful in all the details which are essential to a good football player.

This year he played a steady, consistent game. He could always be relied upon to do a little more than his share of the work. He had the honor of being one of the men who played the whole of the Lafayette game. It is with real regret that Lehigh sees this player leave the gridiron.

N. B. PONS.

Perhaps the measure of "Nick's" season in football can best be given by the fact that he started the season weighing 259 pounds and ended at 230. In other words it was a very successful year.

The State game was the one in which "Nick" showed to the best advantage. In this contest he seemed a real giant. He made tackles in every part of the field; he opened holes for the offense; he inspired his team mates to greater efforts; in short, he played the best game of his career.

It was "Nick's" misfortune to be hurt shortly after the State game but despite this he was able to re-join his outfit and start the Lafayette game. He lasted for only a few plays, much to his sorrow.

"Nick" will probably be with us again next year and every Lehigh man will be glad to see his robust form helping maintain Lehigh's honor on the gridiron.

R. C. GOOD.

In "Bob" we have one of the most versatile of football players. There is not a position except center and guard which he has not occupied during the past season. His usual post is at right end but he plays tackle with equal ability and has even ventured into the backfield. Occasionally he attempts field goals. His average in this direction is 100%, having scored one such in the F. & M. game.

"Bob" is a consistent, reliable player who seldom misses a tackle and who can always be counted upon to shoulder his full share of the team's work. He was the only man to play two positions in the Lafayette game.

F. N. BECKER.

"A. A." again earned for himself a 'varsity berth despite his size or rather despite his lack of size. For a man to play guard on a college team with only 145 pounds of flesh and bone to recommend him is truly remarkable. What Becker lacked in stature he certainly made up in ability and grit. There are any number of college guards who will assert it is far more comfortable to play a 200 pounder than to play Becker.

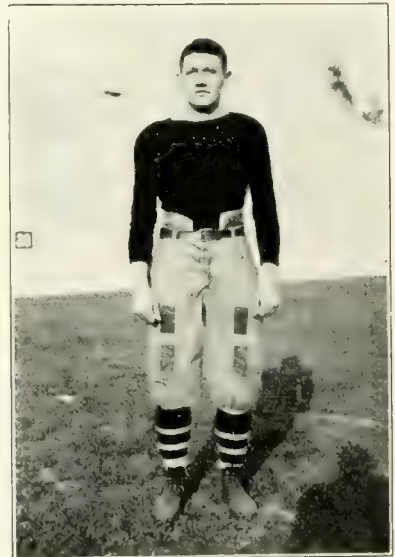

Becker has played his last game of football and his absence will be felt next year when reliable linemen are in demand.

L. A. BRUNNER.

Brunner has fully lived up to the promise of his reputation gained in prep school ranks. Altho this is his first year of college football he has earned for himself a place in the athletic world. By several critics he was placed on the All-Pennsylvania Team and he was almost unanimously given a berth on the second team. Besides this honor he was also well up in Walter Camp's honor list and was one of the season's heaviest scorers.

At left half "Len" played an almost spectacular game. His ability as a forward passer, punter, open-field runner, and a defensive back made him practically the keystone of the team.

As "Len" is a Freshman we are looking forward to his future with a great deal of interest and with the feeling that he will be one of the means of our successful football history.

A. A. TATE.

"Austy" Tate played his last year of football and he certainly made it the best of them all. In the Yale game he exhibited wonderful ability and grit. When he left the game in the very last part of the last quarter even the Yale sections realized the fight he had put up and gave him a cheer.

The State game was another high spot of the season for "Austy." Altho the State linemen "doubleteamed" and "kidded" him he kept them from making any material gain thru his side of the line.

"Austy's" departure will leave a big vacancy in the line.

G. R. MACDONALD.

"Buckie" Macdonald played a great game at center. All thru the earlier part of the season he played consistently good football. His defensive work was excellent and at passing the ball he had no equal. It was his misfortune to have his shoulder hurt and on this account he was unable to take part in the last games.

He went into the Lafayette game in the first quarter and played up to the last few minutes despite the weakness of his shoulder.

"Buckie" is a Sophomore so we can look forward to his activities on the gridiron next year.

R. T. McCARTHY.

"Mac" has a record to be proud of. During the whole season of 1916 he was out but two quarters and those in an early game when everyone was being weighed in the balance. His regular berth is at left guard but he plays the tackle position with equal facility when the occasion demands.

"Mac" is not a spectacular player possibly because he does his share so thoroughly that there is no opportunity for the spectacular to become obvious.

In the Lafayette game he made himself conspicuous by his alertness and ability. On several occasions he intercepted forward passes and time after time he was down under kicks as rapidly as the ends.

"Mac" is a Freshman and bears promise of a great football career.

W. V. McCARTHY.

"Mac" at end played a consistently good game thruout the season. In several games he excelled himself however. He knows how to follow the ball and time after time he made tackles that seemed fairly impossible to the spectator. "Mac" earned a place for himself in Walter Camp's list of All-American possibilities.

Altho playing the end position "Mac" was one of the team's heaviest scorers. He scored twenty points, having the honor of making the first touchdown against Lafayette. He could always be relied on to make a touchdown count for seven points.

"Mac" will be with us next year and we are looking for great things from him.

A. W. CHENOWETH.

"Cheney" was out of the game a great part of the season because of injuries. The games in which he took part were replete with his tricks of leadership and there was no doubt about the excellence of his generalship.

"Cheney" has played his last year of football and it is with real regret that we see one who has served Lehigh as faithfully as he has leave the football field.

A. S. HERRINGTON.

Here is another Freshman who made good. His record is very remarkable. Altho playing in only one-third of the games he was next to the highest scorer on the team.

At quarterback there was plenty of opportunity for his speed, headwork and general ability to become evident. On many occasions he thrilled the spectators with a display of his marvelous agility in an open field.

"Buzz" has ability as a forward passer and as a punter. He will be back on the gridiron next year.

V. E. JOHNSON.

One thing that "Johnny" did that is worthy of mention was to score a touchdown against Lafayette. That would seem great enough honor for a lineman but "Johnny's" deeds clamor for expression. His long rangy build made him an ideal lineman and he seems to have a knack of diagnosing plays that promises greatly for his football future. He is a Sophomore and intends to be out in uniform next year.

J. R. PURSELL.

"Jim" has played in every game since he reached college. He is a heady quarterback who seems always to be cool and collected; he can hurl the forward passes; and he knows how to hit the line.

It was Pursell who took charge of the scrub team which drilled the Varsity in the ways and means of defeating the wide-open game that Lafayette was sure to use.

A. J. QUIST.

In the early season scramble for the right wing position Quist was an easy favorite. All thru the season the fight was a hot one and "Al" did not get into the Lafayette game until the third quarter. However he made up for lost time by playing a wonderful game. He is a Sophomore and is planning to be on the gridiron next fall.

J. J. HURLEY.

Hurley was the general utility man of the backfield. Whenever a good, reliable halfback or fullback was needed Hurley would just fill the bill. Altho not of great physique he possessed pluck and stick-to-itiveness. He knew how to twist and turn thru what seemed impenetrable masses and occasionally gained his yards by simply rolling over the massed up lines.

Season of 1916

When the practice season opened, Taylor Field witnessed many busy days. An exceptionally large squad responded to the first call and candidates continued to flock to the training quarters for some time. Among the first were the nine remaining members of the 1915 Varsity squad. With this nucleus the season which was so satisfactorily terminated was commenced.

The schedule was opened with a victory over Ursinus by the score

21-0. Altho no indication of the team's real strength, the game was satisfactory to all. Quite a number of players were tested in this contest.

Albright was the next visitor. Lehigh defeated their opponents by a score of 61-6. Every member of the squad was put in the game and the results were encouraging. The second team scored as readily as what had become to be considered the Varsity.

The Yale game was next in order and was the early season climax for the team. They put up a great fight and really outplayed their opponents in the first half but Yale came back in the last half and scored her points. The score was 12-0.

The early season anti-climax was the next game when we were unable to do better than tie Lebanon Valley 3-3. Our opponents played a fine game and deserve much credit for the good battle they put up.

As tho to vindicate themselves, the team went after the Catholic University game with a vengeance. The final score was 27-7 in our favor. In this contest the real calibre of the team began to assert itself.

Muhlenberg was next on the schedule. We defeated them 9-0. The game was intensely interesting and altho interrupted by a rainstorm held the crowd to the last play. The team from Allen town put up a good fight.

In the Penn State game the team probably showed themselves to best advantage. The score was 10-7, in favor of State. The line particularly excelled itself in this contest. Lehigh gave great promise in this game of the possibilities they had for the Lafayette game.

With what was practically a substitute team we defeated Franklin and Marshall by a score of 27-7. This game demonstrated what a wealth of substitute material was at our command.

The Big Game was last on the schedule and victory perched on the banners of Brown and White. We beat Lafayette 17-0. The aim of every Lehigh football season was realized.

With a total of five victories, two defeats, and one tie Lehigh was rated well up among the leaders of football in the East and, of course, with the victory over Lafayette the season is counted a very successful one.

Review of the Season

Captain-Elect Tombly

The 1916 season was one of the most successful that Lehigh has ever known in baseball. The team lost but four games and led the Eastern colleges in their batting average.

Due to the inclemency of the weather the season was late in opening, the first game being cancelled.

The first two games were easily won from Albright and Swarthmore before the team went South. This trip was very successful, three games being won and but one lost—to Williams and Mary. On reaching the home grounds the team successfully defeated Hamilton and Trinity in loosely played games. The next on the schedule was West Point, one of the strongest teams in the East, before whom Lehigh suffered defeat by a score of 4 to 1. Upon returning to South Bethlehem Lehigh lost its first home game of the season to Catholic University, but redeemed itself by winning from Penn State and Ursinus.

On May 15th Lehigh went down to Lafayette and in one of the longest college games ever played lost in the 16th inning by a score of 4 to 5. Rawle pitched a most consistent game but had to fight an uphill battle due to the lack of support in several critical stages of the game.

The second game of the series was also played at Easton, where Lehigh showed its true form by defeating Lafayette very easily to the tune of 4 to 2. Here Gerard was knocked around and finally out of the box in the sixth inning and was most unsuccessfully followed by Weldon. Rawle pitched a brilliant game and received perfect support from the entire team and the student body at large before one of the largest bodies of alumni that ever gathered for commencement at that college. Lehigh defeated Lafayette in the last game of the series at Taylor Field by a score of 4 to 1, rain calling the game in the sixth inning. The season was closed by defeating the Chinese University nine in a close game that was full of thrills.

Altogether Lehigh made a remarkable record by registering 116 runs to her opponents 58. All credit for this successful season may without doubt be given to our Coach Tom Keady and Captain Fishburn.

Review of the Season

Last year again saw Lehigh the champions of the Southern Division of the United States Lacrosse League. Considering everything the season was a brilliant one, the only defeat coming from the hands of the big Crescent A. C. team at Bay Ridge, N. Y.

Cornell, who was termed champion of the Northern Division, was decisively beaten by the Brown and White in the opening game of the season to the tune of 5-4. Then followed the Stevens Institute massacre with a 9-1 score. The Swarthmore game, being next on the schedule, was played in a sea of mud and, tho a scientific game was impossible, the Lehigh aggregation showed their superiority by a 3-1 score. The Yale twelve was the next victim. They came to Lehigh in the midst of Junior Week festivities and many of the fair witnessed the Blue team go down to defeat. Lehigh again captured the victorious laurels from the strong Johns Hopkins team which was the former champion and finally clinched the title with a victory, 8-2, over Pennsylvania. The champion team then visited Brooklyn where they lost their first game with the Crescent A. C. This was the closing game of the season.

The championship came as quite a surprise to those who had followed Lacrosse with Lehigh, for the season started out with a sad lacking of experienced players. Jack Grimes, to whom much praise is due as coach, explained the reason for the season's success at a banquet tendered the team after the Penn game. He said the team made up in aggressiveness—typical Lehigh pep—all that it lacked in science.

Review of the Season

On looking back to last Spring's track season, it may be said that only a limited success was realized. Four dual meets were held and in only one was Lehigh able to outpoint the opponent, this being the one against Stevens. The cause for the defeats was that good material was entirely lacking in certain events. Hanway and McGrath did excellent work in the medium and long runs, Morrissey and Schultz were good in the sprints, and Schnerr and MacGregor at the weights, the latter breaking the hammer throw record twice in one week.

In the Middle States Colleguates Lehigh was placed fifth. Hanway and McGrath captured first in the half and one mile runs respectively; Hanway also ran third in the 440, and Morrissey, third in the 220. Hallowell got  $\frac{1}{4}$  point in the pole vault making a total of  $14\frac{1}{4}$  points.

Review of the Season

This year the Brown and White completed the most successful basketball season that it has had since the erection of Taylor gym and one of the most satisfactory in the University's history. Not a game was lost on the home floor and only four were lost away, two of these by but one point. Coach Geary deserves much credit for the way in which he whipped the team into shape.

The four defeats were received from the College of the City of New York, Lafayette, the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech. The most decisive one was that administered by Pittsburgh during the hard western trip. Lafayette surprised the Brown and White by their victory, the game being played on the rival's floor "down the river." The bitter taste of this defeat was destroyed, however, when Lehigh succeeded in completely bewildering the Maroon and White five on the home floor to the score of 31-20.

The main cause of the general success of the team was the remarkable team work exhibited in almost all the games. There was not a weak spot in the line up. Captain Crichton played a very good game at center. Dynan, the other member of last year's varsity, scored more goals than any other man on the team. He also did most of the foul shooting. W. V. McCarthy, the opposite forward and next season's captain, was second in goals and scored and played an exceptionally fast game. The air-tight guarding of Kennedy and Wysocki was responsible for the inability of the opponents to score more points than they did. The playing of Berg and Barrett who substituted in many of the games was of the same snappy character as that displayed by the rest of the team.

The Lehigh matmen completed a hard schedule in 1917 with a very creditable record. The team lost but two meets, won four and secured second place in the Intercollegiates held at Cornell. Springfield Y. M. C. A., University of Pittsburgh, Brown University and the University of Pennsylvania were defeated without much trouble. Penn State and Cornell, represented by teams which were considered the strongest in collegiate ranks, were harder propositions and furnished two very exciting meets. The Brown and White fought well and the bouts were much closer than the score indicated.

Lehigh's showing in the Intercollegiates was most gratifying with three seconds, four third places and four falls to her credit.

Coach "Billy" Sheridan worked wonders with the inexperienced material from which the greater part of the team was made and deserves much praise for his success.

Soccer Season, 1916-1917

This was the fourth year of soccer at Lehigh and the first season as a recognized sport. Altho Lehigh finished but third in the Pennsylvania State Intercollegiate League, two well earned victories over Lafayette would almost warrant the season being termed "highly successful."

The Lehigh Soccer Association, which is composed of all interested in soccer as a sport at Lehigh, held its annual business meeting on October 25, 1916 and for the third consecutive year unanimously reelected Professor Percy Hughes as President of the Association. The general sentiment was that soccer should be advanced at Lehigh as a game for all who are interested in clean, healthy, outdoor sport during the fall and winter months.

Following is a review of the 'varsity season—

The team started off in great style, defeating Lafayette five goals to none.

The Germantown Boys' Club was the next opponent and Lehigh was defeated four to three, the game being close all the way thru.

Haverford was the first team played in foreign territory and Lehigh was unexpectedly defeated by the final score of three to one.

Lafayette was again defeated three to none in the only game of the season played on Taylor Field. The game was well played, the victory being due to the splendid work of the Lehigh eleven.

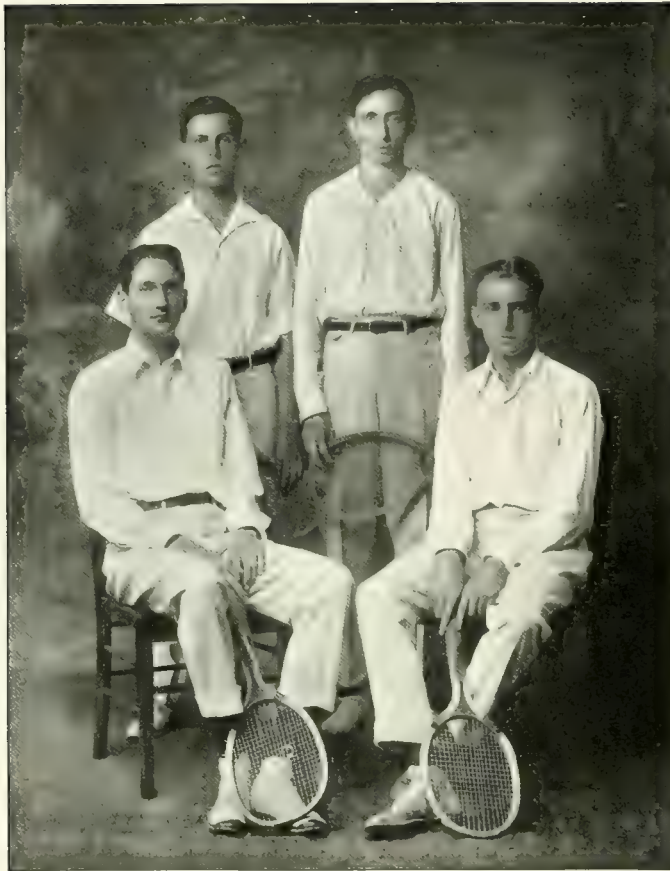

The University of Pennsylvania had a strong line-up in the game Lehigh played against them on Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Lehigh worked hard but could not break down Penn's defense nor could the Lehigh backfield men stop Penn's offense. The score was three goals to one in favor of the Red and Blue.

The final game of the season was played at Phillipsburg against the combined Easton-Phillipsburg team of the Blue Mountain League. The Brown and White Team rather easily took the long end of a three to one score.

The work of Lewis, Barkley and Rau was the feature of the season.

SYNOPSIS

SCENE—Students' Mathless Training Camp.

---

TIME—The evening of the first night at Camp.

---

Officials and other noteworthies arrive for the opening of Camp followed by Students with their equipment. Mustering in of the rookies with first drill. Taps blown, but the Students, as yet unused to military discipline, decide to have some fun.

A suspicious character is caught lurking around Outpost No. 3. The prowler when challenged shows signs of fight, and after fierce struggles eludes the sentries only to run into the whole Camp, hurrying to the center of disturbance. Here battle royal ensues but the culprit is finally overpowered.

Upon examination he proves to be Kid Calculus, chief aide to General I. Flunken Gimmemore. He is tried before the military court and is convicted of entertaining dire and insidious designs against all Joy and Jollification in general. He is accordingly abruptly sentenced to die and is burned alive at the stake.

"All men who have attended these camps have left convinced of the utter madness and folly of border conflict to adopt some system under which the men of this nation may be trained and its people and resources organized to defend the institutions and ideals which we believe mean so much to humanity."

"The Plattsburg idea marks the awakening of a sleeping people to a realization of certain great ideas of life, truths, truths which must be accepted and lived up to if the nation is to live."

GEN. LEONARD WOOD

Plattsburg

"A scramble with packs—in five minutes!" That's the order, and there's an answering volley like this:

"Shall we put our meat cans in our packs?"

"How many blankets shall we take?"

"Are we gonna' stay out all night?"

"Your shovel? Why I told you I lent it to that red-headed Irishman in the next company."

"I can't hear you, I'm asleep."

"Aw, this darn army's got no regard for an artistic temperament. I wanta sleep this afternoon so I can dance to-night."

"Don't be givin' me your growl. I did n't put sand in your canteen."

"No, it isn't yours. I guess I oughta know the number of my own rifle, huh?"

And so on for most of the allotted five minutes; but by the end of that five minutes, they're out and ready.

The Plattsburg men, last summer, enjoyed the great advantage of having an expert as their instructor in Physical Culture—Captain Keeler, Physical Director of The United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y. The splendid instruction in "setting-up" exercises under his supervision has a very large present worth to those of us who, when we rise in the morning, run through a few minutes of snappy:

"Hands over head, thumbs interlocked! Touch the toes without bending the knees! Bend, two, one, two, one, two, . . ."

Or "Jump from position of attention to full straddle with hands over head! Exercise, two, one, two, one, two, . . ."

They come to these military camps—most of them—as "rookies" whose idea of a rifle is a marvelously light fowling-piece which aims itself and cleans itself and generally takes care of both itself and its possessor.

They leave after their period of training as splendidly bronzed, physically fit examples of young American manhood. They have learned something of the meaning of the term "discipline," they have learned to take care of themselves in "God's Great Out-of-Doors," they have had a wonderful vacation filled with new experiences, and with all these they have caught some elementary idea of the need of this great country of ours for "a citizenry trained in arms."

CIVILS

SUMMER

Civil Summer School

The mud was deep but what mattered that to the Civil Wrecking Crew bound for Saylorsburg and summer school. Everybody was feeling in great shape, everybody except "Charlie" Wang; "Charlie" was looking pale, in fact "Charlie" was feeling quite low, but then you could hardly blame him because the ole bus rode like a dreadnought in a rough sea. However the journey was finally triumphantly completed without the loss of anything but "Charlie's" lunch and we hove to in front of Mrs. Bishop's cottage which became our headquarters during the stay at the lake. The Bus had hardly made a safe landing when eighteen wild Junior Civils scrambled down from the rigging in search of mess and it wasn't long before someone discovered Mrs. Marsh, the builder of the now famous Shoe-fly pies.

The real fun started that night when after everyone had individually decided to hit the hay at the same time it was discovered that the only blanket within hailing distance was in the possession of "Bill" Staats, i. e. he had brought it along for his own personal use but Bob Creer as his bunkie claimed a fifty-fifty interest. Three or four in a bed—certainly but, boys, the Hicker saved our lives—poor "Charlie" had his knees higher than his head and with a kimona and a cap, he was a picture for "Puck," so the fireman in the red shirt pulled the carpet off the floor and "Charlie" used that for covers—real Hero stuff.

But what's life without the girls—that's the dope. Sure enuf one noon, when the gang made a run from Mrs. Marsh's to the "Casino" those long looked for girlies had arrived. We soon became one happy family and all the cottagers had the friendship of the boys at heart—except one—Mrs. Bishop—who seemed to take a delight in kidding the bunch along by feeding us music rolls and then asking us not to play.

Did we do any work? Well you see it rained considerably and as everyone knows, when it rains no good surveyor ever allows a transit to frolic around exposed to the elements, especially when there are girlies around. Amid the wild rush for companionship,—in walks the mighty "Joe" Rawle. But, boys, we must admit that "Doc" Shartle and "Jawn" Latimer were there strong when it came to the parlor stuff and we can't pass by without mentioning the modest efforts of "Hutch" and "Jake." "Joe" led the batting list and he certainly did connect for a homer. It sure was a beautiful hit—Joe accept the congratulations from the 1918 Civils.

From the foregoing account you begin to doubt werry werry seriously whether we really did any work—the fact is we worked day and night—“Googy” Reynolds and “Windy” Wilson used to have us up all night doing astronomical work. To show you how interested we were—When Ruff couldn’t say “Oh, I see three stars”—Hicker kindly consented to aid him and immediately sent for a Roman candle. It had such a psychological effect on “Doc” Shartle that he used an entire sheet of note paper for three figures the following night.

Being Civils and thus inherently interested in Hydraulics, the famous Hicker demonstrated the most recent application of a plumb bob. Having taken lessons in torpedoing, Hick proceeded to shoot the plumb-bob thru the steel boat. Yes, it produced a wonderful water jet and likewise made the stern of the boat take on water—the reason?—certainly, Ambler was sitting there. How that boat ever got to shore can be pictured if you bring to mind the appearance of a whale, water foaming up in a vertical stream and the boys straining every muscle to beach her.

But the time soon came when we could no longer spot the girls in swimming. Many a time was the gun turned towards the lake and the operator would find, much to his sorrow, that his subject had departed.

The last week found us busily engaged in the cellar of the hotel. We had a beautiful class room made from old tables and beer boxes. Still we managed to get the work out and that was all that was necessary. Having all work completed and the party’s instruments and tools packed, we waited for “Windy” to give us “that endurance test.” It certainly was a wonder and so extremely interesting that the cry of “Here comes the stage” completely broke up the final and the boys crowded into the Bus leaving Saylorsburg for life.

Detailed account of how the crockery was used for ammunition, when raiding the family on the floor below, may be obtained from Bobby upon request.

The Miner's Frolic

Summer School, 1916

All aboard—Train for Allentown, Catasauqua, Lehighton, Mauch Chunk, Hazleton-n, Wilkes Brrrr, Scrantnn, Buffalooo, Naga Flsss, Cheoo, Rumph, gumpf grrr ??? It was just 6.47 P. M. (at night) when the sturdy band of Miners boarded the Lehigh Walley fast local for the fair city of Hazleton.

The roll was called and "Bunny" McCann was conspicuous by his absence. Reason—ask the Hotel keeper at Razlorsburg, Pa., or the local contingent of 1918 C. E's. The trip was very enjoyable especially to those who, like ourselves, possessed an inherited interest in Geology, since the aforesaid fast accommodation was very accommodating and stopped time and time again, to enable us to look at the geological strata. Then again we were fortunate in having the "omms" present "All American" for did he not give us all the dope necessary for us to achieve the kingdom of the ancients? He explained everything to us from the pre-historic age to the present including the gneisses, limestones, his summer escapades in Maine, that he was the lightest guard in college ranks and why was paint ore, etc., etc., ad infinitum. Of course we had heard the speech innumerable times before but he wasn't a bit stingy as he let the whole car in on it and really his address was remarkable for one so unaccustomed to public speaking.

Eventually we arrived at our destination at which point "Baldy" (deer teacher) took stock to see whether all sober were there, after which ceremony we took up the cry of "On to the Hazleton House" and the following slid up to the Bar Office and declared their presence——

"Rip" Borden—"A. A." Becker—"Dick" Colby—"Harruld" Sloman—"Al" Dynan—"Bunny" McCann (at the stroke of twelve)—"Dutch" Schmidt—"Ted" Robinson—and "Teddy" Linn——

We doubled up for the week and finally became settled. As it was Sunday night we washed up in water and proceeded to give the town the double "O." However, all of us didn't get away from the hotel so quick because a few wanted to look like Drummers and pass on the Janes as they strolled by.

The official announcer told us that we were to be up and doing at six P. X. (we hated to laugh in Baldy's face but there was a swell chance of getting that gang out at that hour). At any rate the crew breakfasted by seven,—didn't stop to order much, just handed the waitresses the menu and bawled "Gimme that"—real rough like, you know—we were dolled up in flannel shirts, trousers, canal boats—oh what a horrid looking aggregation.

We were only an hour late in getting down to the mine, which wasn't so bad. All were green but "A. A." who knew all about the works (he told us so himself). The work at the mines for the remainder of the week can be looked up in any of the various Technical periodicals of regular publication but the escapades at night—

All stood tight for the first call for eats—some rush—Tom Keady would have been ashamed of his football squad. Only a troop of State Police could have quelled that angry mob. After we got started at the "hash" some of us guys from the cities began to kid the waitresses—you know—big league stuff—but they were wise and didn't fall for the line of gaff. All those, who were able, left the table and strolled into the lobby—just in time to greet "Jet the Blonde" back from tea? Well, she wasn't appalled at the sight of us—so big an strong—but pipes out between chews on the Wrigley—"any you boobs got any dough." Not wanting to be pikers, all dig and shout "I'm in"—thereupon Blondy starts a con game; the bunch liked it because you had to be familiar with the cubes—you know 1 to 6. Those who were wise got hep to the dope but, quoting Byron, "there's a sucker born every minute," so some didn't want to make an exception to the rule. Every night you could see that bunch at the little cigar counter getting rooked, but such is life.

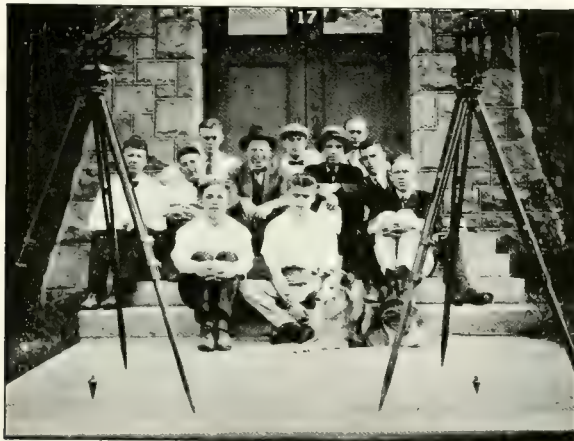

During the earlier part of the evenings we patronized Hazel Park or became acquainted with a few Coleens but just before closing hour you should see that rush. Three of the gentlemen (once a Lehigh man always a gentleman) tried out their capacity and incidentally tried everything at the hotel bar, but 'snow use talking, Canadian Club does get you.

Some of us are pretty good natured but we don't like to play tag in a hotel corridor at 2.30 R. Q., so we were forced to disappoint a blonde member of our contingent.

But, speaking of wild whims, we have it straight that there was one lad in the crowd who used to sit up the better part of the night and write armorous amblings. One night somebody in desperation, but half asleep, call sout "How much have you written to her?" The guilty one says, says he, "0164." Replies the sleepy one,— "Rats, I didn't ask for her phone number."

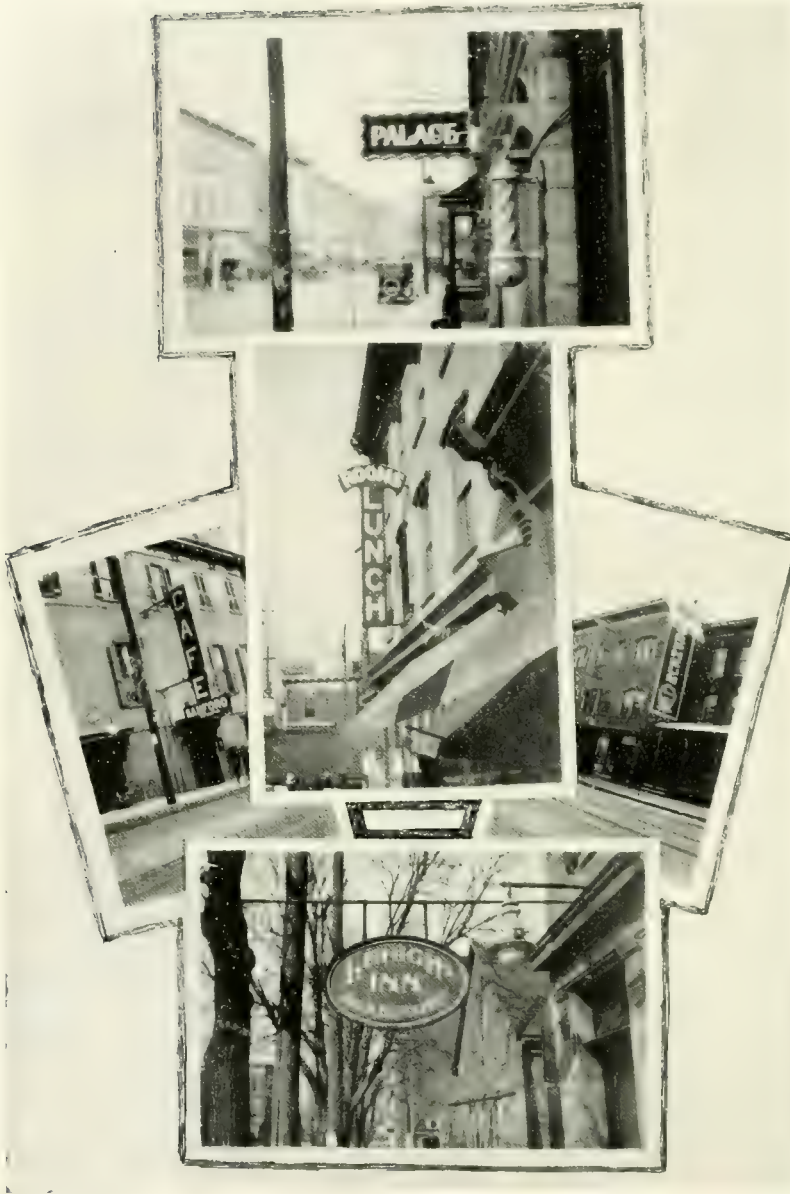

Well these things went on for some time but to elap the climax, one night while we were doing calculations, one of our members announces that he had lost thirty seconds and would you believe it, he spoils the whole evening as he had to call in Pinkerton's to find that half minute.

At last—in order to dissipate the growing anxiety upon the part of our reader—we returned home—pardon me, I mean Souse Beslam, in our usual condition of being dead from the neck up. But it's—"Oh for the life of a Miner."

OPERA GRANDIOSE

von Senor Grfnzbtff

Breif Synopsis

The curtain rises and discovers the inevitable chorus of peasants celebrating a holiday—and the chorus sings—3 times—“Oh, we are merry peasants and we’re gamboling on the green—On the green—On the green.”

Then after the audience is fully convinced that they are merry peasants and that they are gamboling on the green, the tenor—the hero—comes on the stage and sings—“I am the Prince”—3 times—And then the chorus assures the audience that he is the prince—like this—“Yes, he is our prince, a quince, a quince.”

Now the plot of the opera is that the village wallpaper hanger’s daughter who is the heroine wants to marry the prince but the prince doesn’t really care a darn for her so when he sees her approaching he quickly runs up the young mountain in the background and disappears. She comes on the stage and asks—“Have you seen my prince?”—3 times—Here the chorus deliberately lies to the sweet young thing (She’s forty if she’s a day, she weighs about two hundred and has a face no one but a mother could love)—Well, they sing—“We ain’t seen your prince”—and that’s the end of the first act—.

When the curtain goes up again the heroine and her father are singing a touching little duet that runs about like this—“I love him—I love him—Oh! goodness how I love him!” Now the chorus slowly filters onto the stage and forms nice regular lines at the back and after the chorus is all set the devil enters—(it wouldn’t be a genuine grand opera if there wasn’t a devil in it)—and he sings—(in a deep Bass)—“Oh I am the devil—I am the devil—And I come from the regions below”.....

And then the Chorus in a grand finale ensemble pipes up—“What the h-l do we care—Oh what the h-l do we care.”

CURTAIN.

Jottings From The Fret Bulletin Boards at Rushing Time.

"Every Yap in the House is to Read These Rules and Take Heed."

1. Don't wear a flannel shirt.
2. Smoke a cigarette or two but remember that cigars are only for rushees and Seniors—If in a tight place casually take one, but let it be damn seldom. Remember, it will be on the next assessment.
3. Sit the rushee down facing the "L" men pictures on the wall.
4. Don't eat as if we only get one meal a day.
5. Don't clinch with your knife and fork—you are at the table to eat, not to wrestle.
6. Dip your soup away from you.
7. Don't fail to say something about the car being out of commission when you meet him at the station.
8. Don't show surprise when we have meat.
9. Be sure and look up time of chapel services and other dope from the Y. M. C. A. handbook so as not to be put in foolish position when rushee mentions chapel.
10. When you spot a good man on the train at Quakertown, chloroform him, drag him in, and when he wakes up congratulate him.

Cut-Throat Stuff Which Will Come in Handy.

"Yes, they are nice fellows, but I don't see how they make classes with that long walk every morning."

"Yes, they have a nice view up there, but it's a long climb without a machine."

"Fine boys, you bet. They expect to clear the mortgages soon and start eating in the house."

"Yes, they're nice fellows." NOTE—The effectiveness of this depends on the proper accent.

"Nice quiet bunch—In fact I don't believe I know any of them."

"Yes, the Senior president lives over there—Do you know, it's terrible how corrupt college politics are becoming."

"Pretty house—red brick, colonial style you know—too bad they wouldn't let them build on the campus."

"Nice location, but they are so isolated from the society of the town up there."

"Yes, they're awfully convenient to the station, and they get a beautiful view of the Steel Works."

"Oh, yes, mighty good boys,—they should be rather congenial when they get acquainted with each other."

"Oh, their house is way up the mountain, around the third bend. Must be a hard job getting home from Allentown early in the morning, but I guess they're used to that."

"Yeah, the gray stone house we passed this morning—that's their dog you tripped over coming out of Drown Hall."

"All things considered, I don't think I know of any nicer, more congenial, fairer crowd than we have here."

Abandon all hope, ye who enter here.

A Dream

---

I dreamed that Lehigh had gone through a change.

I wonder if dreams come true.

That everything there was new and strange,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That Thorny was coaching the Varsity crew,

And nary a lab report ever came due,

Our exemption mark was a bald-headed two.

I wonder if dreams come true.

I dreamed that someone saw Bill Esty smile,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That going to Mealey's was no more in style,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That Lafayette bet even money at last,

While the Mustard and Cheese had an excellent cast,

And flunking out was a thing of the past.

I wonder if dreams come true.

I dreamed that the Burr had sprung a new joke,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That no one would think of bumming
a smoke,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That Snotty forgot all his calculus dope,
And with analyt problems no longer
could cope,

And down at the gym there was plenty of soap.

I wonder if dreams come true.

I dreamed that in Allentown, no one spoke Dutch,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That Meschter and Luch never talked very much.

I wonder if dreams come true.

That classes never started 'till nine,

That Sophomores enjoyed machine design,

And the Commons grub was really fine.

I wonder if dreams come true.

I dreamed that the Movies had closed the door

I wonder if dreams come true.

For chapel attracted the students much more.

I wonder if dreams come true.

That laundry bills were payed promptly
each year,

Runt Charles was as big as he'd like to appear,

And no where in Bethlehem could one buy a beer.

I wonder if dreams come true.

I dreamed that the musical clubs took a trip,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That I passed Met Problems with nary
a slip,

I wonder if dreams come true.

That the Spring vacation was now sixty days,

The Epitome board was showered with praise,

And when I awoke I was in a daze.

I wonder if dreams come true.

STUDENT BODY VOTES SOLID

Largest College Meeting in History

SPEECH BY ALUMNUM

At a stormy college meeting the student body voted to award "P's" to the entire chapel choir, including the two first bases and left bowler.

Dr. Eysinus told the Lehigh men gathered there how firm was his belief in their integrity and fair dealing.

The following resolution was placed on the floor. "We do hereby resolve that it is both proper and fitting that the entire University choir, in recognition of their persistent effort, be awarded the insignia P, signifying Punk." After hearing them for

CHINESE CLUB WINS DEBATE WITH ALLENTOWN TRUE ACCENT SOCIETY

Woo Hoo Stars

The Chinese Club badly defeated the "The True Accent Society" of Allentown in a 20 round debate. The subject was "Is It? If So Why? If Not, Why Not?" The debate was quite interesting and very well sung.

An interesting feature was the heated argument between Lo Hang Wing and Dutch Scheikel. They would no doubt have come to blows had not the waiter come in with a few scidels.

The cause of the argument was Wing's misunderstanding of the expression, "I don't have none ain't not."

NEW BOOKS ON EXHIBIT

Display Includes Works on Bung Starting and Parchesi

Among the latest volumes received at the University Library are valuable treatises by Lehigh Alumni. J. Fuller Bloom, '72, is the author of a superb work entitled "Mines I Have Strumbled Into." It is pretty deep but very well written. Prof. C. O. Kane has produced a masterly treatise by translating Prof. Mealey's "Terpsichorean" direct from the original Allentown dialect. The latest acquisition to the collection is J. Biftok's scholarly volume on the game of Pass in the corner. Although replete with technical terms it is a valuable aid to the advanced student of that

MUSICAL CLUBS PLAN TRIP TO BORNEO Arrangements Completed For Long Season on Road

The combined musical clubs will take a trip including Camden, New Rochell, Brookline, Manhattan, Rittersville, Slatington, Los Angeles and Sydney, Australia. Everyone who can play any kind of an instrument or sing is invited to try out for this trip.

The management announces that it has arranged for not less than 400 dollars profit in each town, so that the trip will surely be a great success. (Continued on page 5)

NOTICE.

Since the above was turned in, it is announced that the trip has been called off. The clubs may go up to Allentown next year, though.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO TRY AGAIN

Novel Features and Music? grace Show

After a long and successful series of rehearsals the Mustard and Chinese Club is on the brink of another annual convulsion. The parts of the cast have all been assigned to deaf and dumb students. Everything points to the best production in history.

The chorus was chosen in a new and more satisfactory way this season. A large shad was held by the manager and each candidate led before the fish separately. If the shad smiled the candidate was elected. No pads or false hair will be worn by the chorus as this might be considered a breach of the Honor System.

WIRE ROPE

Three Important Factors in its Manufacture

MATERIAL

Good material depends upon the proper quality of steel, properly worked through various processes, evenly and rightly tempered, and conscientiously and repeatedly tested, to insure that only wire of the required strength, toughness and elasticity goes into the rope.

The metals used for Roebling wire rope are selected with the aim of using for each rope that metal which reduced to wire will be best adapted for the service the rope is to give.

DESIGN

The manufacture of a Roebling wire rope is conducted on a plan consistent with that which guides the selection of the metal. The number of strands, the number and size of the wires in each, the lay of the strands, the proportional size of the hemp center and strands, and other details, are in accordance with knowledge accumulated since the manufacture of wire rope began in this country.

WORKMANSHIP

All of the important work in drawing Roebling wire and stranding Roebling wire rope is done by skilled workmen, under expert and experienced direction.

Every process of manufacture is conducted at the Roebling works and is accompanied by the most exacting tests. The metal in a raw state is tested, and a high quality assured before it is rolled into rods and drawn into wire. After the rod is reduced to wire, other strict tests are made and any wire found to be unsuitable is replaced by other wire conforming to the test standards.

Roebling wire, manufactured with scrupulous care, assembled in accordance with Roebling designs, and the Roebling standard of workmanship, produces a Roebling wire rope which justifies the caption: "For Seventy-Seven Years Standard For Every Purpose."
